REALTY FIRM BUYS GLENDALE VERDUGO PARK

PROPERTY TO MAKE IDEAL RESIDENCE LOCATION

Haddock-Nibley Company Is Now Owner; City Gets Money Expended

NEGOTIATIONS that had been pending for several weeks and that were successfully terminated yesterday resulted in the sale of the Verdugo Park, northeast of the city, to the Haddock-Nibley Company, Hibernian building, Los Angeles, transferring an area of close to 104 acres of land that had been originally bought by the city of Glendale for a park, nearly one year ago, to one of the leading firms of sub-dividers in the southland, for a consideration of $100,000.

The property was bought by the city from Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, through her agent, Walter Jones, for a consideration of $60,000, of which $20,000 had already been paid on the principal by the city, together with $1400 for interest.

In addition to these sums $927.60 had been spent on improvements by the city, $1298.20 on maintenance labor, and $798.18 on maintenance supplies, a total of $33,123.98 paid out by the city of Glendale, every cent of which is to be repaid to the city by Walter Jones out of the $100,000 paid to him for the property by the Haddock-Nibley company.

Another tract of sixty-seven acres, adjoining the 104 acres involved in this deal, had been purchased by the city several years ago, but this piece of land is not made a part of the present transaction.

Suit Halts Purchase

A short time ago an injunction suit was started by George A. Montgomery of this city to restrain the city authorities from paying out any more money on the purchase price of the property, and this suit is now pending in the courts. It was with the object of solving the difficulty attendant on the injunction suit that the city authorities took steps to dispose of the property, provided that the entire outlay of the city's funds could be recouped, and the stand taken by Mayor Spencer Robinson and his associates in the repayment of the entire amount expended by the city in the acquisition of the property. Mayor Robinson acted throughout as the representative.

City Teachers' Club At First Annual Banquet

THE Glendale City Teachers' club last night in the dining room of the Chamber of Commerce held its first annual banquet.

One hundred and four persons were present, including teachers and fifteen guests. Miss Carrie M. Noble, principal of the Wilson Avenue intermediate school, and president of the club, acted as toastmistress. Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, was unable to be present.

Mrs. Nettie C. Brown of 201 Milford street, brought greetings from the board of education.

The principal address of the evening was made by Mrs. Dan Campbell of North Glendale, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

A reading entitled "The Florist Shop" was given by Miss Winona Whitlow, member of the faculty of the Cunnock School of Expression, Los Angeles.

Music during the banquet and following the dinner was provided by a trio consisting of Mrs. William Hopkins, Jr., of 659 North Central avenue, harp; Miss Marian Matthews of Los Angeles, violin, and Miss Neva Chiberg, Los Angeles, cello. They played a program of light classical music and a medley of Irish airs.

Miss June Hammon of Los Angeles, member of the faculty of the Colorado school, had charge of last night's arrangements. Miss Ethel H. Land of 605 North Maryland avenue, teacher at Doran street school, had charge of the menu, which consisted largely of fried chicken. Both were complimented on the success of the occasion.

GERMANY IN NEW OFFER TO ALLES, REPORT

Officials Hope France Will Be Asked to Evacuate Ruhr District

BERLIN, April 21.—Following a meeting of the cabinet today, it was reliably reported that Germany will make a new reparations offer to the allies next week raising the sum they originally proposed from 30,000,000,000 gold marks to about 35,000,000,000 gold marks.

German officials hope their offer will be of such a nature as to induce Great Britain and Italy to ask evacuation of the Ruhr by the French and Belgians.

Germany maintains the attitude that an international loan is necessary to settle reparations accounts and that, in order to meet the loan, the Ruhr mines and industries must be returned.

To Include Others

Lord Curzon's speech in the British parliament yesterday was construed by the German cabinet as an invitation to Germany to make an offer. German newspapers, in commenting today upon the speech of the British foreign secretary, emphasized the point that Great Britain believes the time opportune for proposals.

It is understood that the new offer will not be addressed solely to France but will be in circular form addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium.

An international conference will be suggested, it is declared.

Washington Is Winner Coast Rowing Honors

OAKLAND, April 21.—Rowing with a long and powerful stroke, the University of Washington crew won the Pacific coast intercollegiate rowing championship from the University of California aggregation over the three-mile course here today. The winning eight had a lead of five lengths at the finish.

The California boat went into the lead with a quick sprint at the start and held it for the first mile. At the half-mile point California was leading by two lengths. Washington then quickened her stroke and at the mile mark had cut the lead down to one length. Both boats were rowing thirty-four at this time.

At the mile and a half mark the California crew increased its stroke to thirty-six and Washington followed suit. It was here with the faster stroke that the northern college showed its supremacy and forged into the lead.

Before it reached the two-mile mark it had increased the distance between the boats to two lengths and was gaining a faster stride every minute, while the California crew, although giving its all, began to weaken, and fell behind. The Washington crew forged ahead fast, and within a half mile of the finish, was leading by more than four lengths.

The time for the varsity race was 16 minutes 52 seconds.

SIX WOMEN ON HUNGER STRIKE IN IRELAND

Leaders in Republican Party, Imprisoned, Protest by Refusing to Eat

BI DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, April 21.—Six of the most conspicuous of the women leaders in the Irish republican movement are on hunger strike today in Kilmainham jail. Outside the jail women sympathizers entered upon a hunger strike in sympathy, but gave it up.

Among the women prisoners are Miss Mary Macswiney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, who was arrested while on her way to attend the funeral of Liam Lynch; Mrs. O'Callaghan, widow of an irregular leader executed at Limerick; and Miss Ryan, sister-in-law of General Richard Mulcahy, minister of war in the Free State cabinet, and commander-in-chief of the Free State army.

Condition Serious

Miss Ryan is the longest hunger striker. Her fast started on March 27. She is reported to be weak and in serious condition, but the Free State authorities have evinced no indication of releasing her or any of the other women hunger strikers.

Miss Macswiney and Mrs. O'Callaghan have not eaten for ten days—since the day for their release—since the day for their release.

Groups of women republicans gather daily outside of the jail walls and cheer for the hunger strikers.

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—Mrs. Clara Phillips, notorious "hammer murderess" of Los Angeles, Cal., is stopping at a hotel in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, accompanied by a man giving the name of Jesse Carsen, according to information received here today. Carsen is said to be wanted by the sheriff at Los Angeles.

PLANE FALLS INTO RIVER; THREE ARE DEAD
DAYTON, O., April 21.—An airplane, flying to Dayton from Langley field and carrying five persons, plunged into the river near McCook field at 12:45 o'clock this afternoon. First reports said all five were dead, but later reports confirmed three dead and two seriously hurt. The injured two were taken to the hospital. McCook field was not able to identify the men on the ship.

NEW ATTEMPT TO RESCUE MAROONED PERSONS
CHICAGO, April 21.—Another attempt to rescue the marooned ten persons on South Fox island in Lake Michigan was to be made this afternoon when a car ferry, a huge craft, was to start from Frankfort, Mich., forty miles northeast of the island. The ship was outfitted and dispatched by Wilson & Company, Chicago packing firm, which also had dispatched a plane laden with provisions. The ferry will attempt to take off the ten persons and the aviator who landed on the island yesterday. Ice is breaking up between the island and the shore.

CLARA PHILLIPS' HUSBAND IS ACCUSED
LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Armour L. Phillips, husband of Mrs. Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," under provisional arrest in Honduras, will be charged with having aided and abetted in her flight from the county jail here and into Mexico, it was announced this afternoon by Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes. Phillips was arrested last night but denied he knew anything concerning his wife's whereabouts.

Tent City Rises in Wake of Holocaust

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 21.—A tented city was rising today on and around the site of Burke, a mining town in McDowell county which was wiped out by fire late yesterday with an estimated loss of $500,000 to $800,000. More than 100 families, some of them with many children, spent the night on the hillside sleeping on dried grass or mattresses which were saved from their homes.

More than 100 houses and half a dozen business buildings were destroyed. Deputy sheriffs were guarding the smoldering ruins today to prevent looting and preserve order. Relief from many cities and towns in this part of the state has been offered.

Young Orators Win Praise In School's Annual Contest

EXCITEMENT prevailed at, about and around Glendale Union High school yesterday because of the annual oratorical contest. Fred Peck, senior orator who was the prize-winner, was showered with congratulations and was carried on the shoulders of his comrades upon an active demonstration, which, he stated, was better than any daily dozen for exercise.

The junior class, which represented a horde of immigrants just out of Ellis Island, was awarded first prize for the best showing in the parade.

Traffic and business in the center of the city was halted for a few minutes yesterday noon while from the Glendale Theatre to Broadway and Maryland avenue and gave a yell which woke Old Man Verdugo.

Miss Betty Higgins, secretary of debating, had charge of this year's "oratorical." She was immensely pleased over its success and was paid many compliments.

Miss Mary Gladys Corry, instructor in oral English, coached the class orators. She was quite proud of their showing.

They Picked Them

Judges of the orations were Dr. B. F. Stetter, professor of English at Occidental College; J. R. McArthur, professor of modern language at the California Institute of Technology; and W. T. Newton, instructor of debating at Manual Arts High School, Henry E. Canavan of 230 North Orange street; Mrs. Nanno Woods of 122 Mill street; and Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain of 109 North Brand boulevard judged the line of march.

Paul R. Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange avenue, presided over the contest. He won last year's "oratorical."

George Peabody Karcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Karcher of 2428 Atwater avenue, was the freshman orator. He spoke on "The World's Greatest Need."

"By greater manifestation of kindness and not otherwise, shall we bring about any lasting increase and advancement of the happiness and welfare of the world," he remarked, "and thereby supply the world's greatest need."

"If it is true that civilization has reached a point higher than that attained at any time in the past, then we are puzzled to explain to our own satisfaction how the tragic events of the years since the World War began ever came to pass. We are at a loss to account for the conditions of these latter days when fear, doubt, suspicion and unrest seem to be in control of the peoples of the earth; when nation and war and against nation and war are tending to plunge the world into chaos; and individuals either singly or collectively are arrayed against each other according to their own selfish interests."

"Let America close her ports to all foreigners for a period of ten years. During that time let her take up the difficult task of Americanizing the strangers with in her gates. Let her welfare societies undertake the work of enabling these people to help themselves to become independent assets to our nation. Let the slums be cleaned out. Let these people be given decent and comfortable living quarters."

Extradition Proceedings To Get Clara Phillips Start

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The state department today instituted extradition proceedings with Honduras to secure the return to California of Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess. The proceedings are being conducted by the American consul at Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras.

SACRAMENTO, April 21.—The woman reported under surveillance in Honduras on suspicion of being Mrs. Clara Phillips, Los Angeles "hammer murderess," was placed under provisional arrest at early hour this morning, according to Sheriff William L. Traeger of Los Angeles, who arrived here to take charge of rushing through extradition proceedings.

Traeger declared that he received notification of the suspected hammer murderess' arrest from the state department at Washington upon his arrival here from San Francisco.

The Los Angeles sheriff asserted he would wire a complete description of Mrs. Phillips to the state department this morning, from whence it will be relayed to the Honduras authorities. The identification material will include a technical description of the woman slayer's finger prints. Traeger further stated that he will know by nightfall whether the woman under arrest in Honduras is actually Mrs. Phillips.

Traeger to Act

If the suspect is identified as the escaped slayer of Mrs. Alberta Termaine Meadows, pretty 20-year-old widow of Los Angeles, a requisition for the return of Mrs. Phillips to California will be forwarded to Honduras immediately. Sheriff Traeger stated that he will personally present the papers to the Honduras authorities and take the prisoner in custody.

"Mr. Carson" reported in company with Mrs. Phillips at the Tegucigalpa hotel is said by Sheriff Traeger to be Jess Carson, "two times loser" and wanted by California authorities for arson. Had the Los Angeles authorities connected Carson with the Phillips case, the hammer murderess would never have escaped from Mexico City, where she is reported to have sought refuge several weeks ago. Sheriff Traeger said, indicating that he believes Carson assisted Mrs. Phillips to make her escape, the Los Angeles sheriff stated that he will in all probability seek her extradition as soon as the matter is settled.

Also enmeshed in the sinister affair is the young woman registered at the Honduras hostelry as Mrs. Carson. Sheriff Traeger said he is unable to account for the presence of the "Mrs. Carson" mentioned in dispatches to the state department as Carson's wife is supposed to be living in a suburb of Los Angeles.

Telegram Received

The telegram received by Governor Richardson from the state department is as follows:

"American legation, Tegucigalpa, Honduras, telegraphs Clara Phillips reported to be at Hotel Tegucigalpa under name of Mrs. Robert Young, accompanied by couple registered as Mr. and Mrs. Carson."

"If you desire this department to request fugitives on provisional arrest and detention with subsequent extradition please so state and add that she has been convicted of murder in California."

Mrs. Phillips was convicted in Los Angeles of murder, the motive being jealousy. After escaping jail she is believed to have fled from Los Angeles by airplane, made her way across Mexico into Central America, arriving finally in Honduras, a supposedly safe haven, because of the lack of extradition treaties. Officials here expect she will be deported and then arrested.

DAMAGE IN WAKE OF SPRING THAW

Northern Michigan Rivers Running Wild as Snow Melts in Hills

PETOSKEY, Mich., April 21.—Northern Michigan rivers are running wild, many districts are in danger of being cut off by flood traffic is halted or seriously threatened today by floods from the rapid melting of heavy winter snows. Damage is heavy.

Ice jams in the Ontonagon river were being blasted away at Ontonagon, Mich., in an effort to lower the flood which has covered the business district there with eighteen inches of water, the highest on record in forty years. Damage is estimated at many thousands of dollars. Row boats were common in the streets last night, passing among huge ice blocks, rescuing persons trapped by the quick rise of the flood. Many workers routed from cellars and low buildings had narrow escapes.

Railways Damaged

Forty-five cars of cinders are being hauled to replace washed out footings on the Michigan Central line of way at Cheboygan and Indian river in the Mullet lake and Sturgeon river country, where the water in many places has reached the rail tops.

Floods have washed out 150 feet of Pennsylvania railroad track at Lakewood. Beaver Island is isolated. At Alpena bridges and roads are menaced by flood waters of Thunder Bay river and branches. Ice was dynamited at Fletcher dam.

Scout Officials to Gather at Dinner

A good program has been arranged for the first annual meeting of the Troop Leaders Roundtable at the Sunset Canyon Country club, Monday night, April 23. As an evidence of the appreciation they feel for the great work that has been accomplished among the scouts, the executive board will give a complimentary dinner in honor of the scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters in the banquet room of the club, preceding the roundtable meeting. The time set for the dinner is 6:30 o'clock. In accordance with the above, A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout council, has sent a personal invitation to every scoutmaster and assistant scoutmaster to be the guest of the executive board. Invitations have also been sent to all members of the executive board, chairman of all committees and troop committees. The personnel of committee comprised M. F. Oliver, chairman, Benjamin Robison and S. V. Joliffe.

Election of new officers of the roundtable for 1923-24 will also be in order. The nominating committee consisting of Frank C. Ayars, chairman, A. C. Cox and E. B. Thomas have already met and have selected two candidates for each of the offices of chief counselor, first counselor, second counselor, scribe-treasurer and pep promoter.

Scout leaders who do not have cars will be taken to the Country club in automobiles. The machines will leave the district scout office at 6 p. m.

HARDING SILENT ON WORLD COURT

Rival Influences Fail to Draw Expression From U. S. President

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 21.—Pulled one way by members of his cabinet who favor the American entrance into the League of Nations court, and tugged the opposite way by congressional leaders who fear the political consequences of a party fight, President Harding found himself today the central point of a whirlwind of activity over the court issue that has descended upon Washington in the last twenty-four hours.

Thus far the president has listened patiently to both sides. Without comment or visible effect, he has listened to Representative Will R. Wood, Republican of Indiana, chairman of the congressional campaign committee, tell of the dire consequences which may descend upon the party if he pursues his policy of putting the United States into the league court. With equal reticence he has heard Elihu Root and Secretary of State Hughes extol the merits of the court proposal, and has received their assurances that the mass of "public opinion" is behind the proposition.

It is probable, however, that the next few days will see Mr. Harding break his silence over the storm that is now raging in his party over the court issue. The president will deliver an address Tuesday in New York to several hundred newspaper editors, and he has been advised strongly to seize upon this occasion to strike a telling blow in defense of his court proposal. Both Mr. Root and Mr. Hughes believe the opportunity a golden one.

Lost Diamond Brooch Is Sought by Owner

A diamond brooch valued at $1735 is missing from 737 South Maryland avenue, according to a report made by its owner, Mrs. Ruth E. McBride, to the local police department.

The brooch was left sticking in a pin cushion on the top of the bureau Thursday afternoon while Mrs. McBride went for an automobile ride. When she returned it was gone.

Twenty-nine diamonds, ranging in size from very small ones to three-quarters of a carat in size, were set in a background of platinum three-quarters of an inch wide and three and a half inches long.

Lloyds Ltd. has this brooch insured for $1000. Frank Oldfield, Los Angeles representative of Topley & Harding, national theft insurance adjusters, has offered a reward of ten per cent of its value, or $173, for its recovery.

Mount Lassen Again Is Showing Activity

REDDING, Cal., April 21.—Possibility that Mount Lassen, California's "live" volcano, may be nearing an "active" stage was considered likely by many observers following the second internal disturbance in the great volcanic pile in the past sixty days.

The latest eruption was preceded by a deep rumble following which dense clouds of black smoke were belched forth. This smoke settled quickly, preventing accurate observation of just what was going on around the volcanic cones.

Observers said today that it would not be surprising if a new crater is being formed. This possibility was advanced when the last period of activity was noticed from the east and not the west side.

KILLED IN CRASH

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 21.—Two men were instantly killed early today by the collapse of a barracks at the Des Moines Gas plant. The dead are William Fitzgerald and James Collinder.

Mexican Recognition By U. S. Is Imminent

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Negotiations between the United States and Mexico, looking to the recognition of the Oregon government, are now at such a delicate stage that public announcement of restored relations may be made within a week, it was learned officially here today.

BRUTALITY CHARGE

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—Intimidation, coercion and actual brutality to prisoners, including beatings, to force them to plead guilty and thus avoid possibility of acquittal before a jury, were charged by former Deputy Sheriff Jerry Poppell, testifying today before the legislative committee investigating the death of Martin Tabert, county leased prisoner.

Firemen Injured in Crash With Trolley

SEATTLE, April 21.—Two firemen, R. J. Syphers and Captain Leo Smith, are in Providence hospital probably fatally injured, while three others are at their homes suffering from cuts and bruises as the result of a head-on collision late yesterday between a street car and a combination hose and pumping truck on its way to a small blaze.

The impact derailed the street car and partly demolished the truck.

Town Threatened by Fire in Lumber Yard

CULVER, Ind., April 21.—The entire town of Culver was threatened with destruction by flames today when the Culver Lumber yards, in the heart of the town, was destroyed by a loss of many thousands of dollars. Fire companies from Knox and Plymouth responded to an alarm and pumped water from Lake Maxinkuckee on the flames. The fire which had been raging since four o'clock was reported under control at 9:30.

DEATHS, FUNERALS
William D. McLeod
The death of William D. McLeod, on Sunday morning, April 15, 1923, at his home at 1345 East Colorado street, at the age of 67 years, was announced in the Glendale Evening News of Monday, April 16, has brought forth a fine tribute from the Kansas City Times, his home paper, account of which follows:
William D. McLeod, who died early Sunday morning, April 15, 1923, at his Glendale home at 1345 East Colorado street, at the age of 67 years, was for many years a lawyer of Kansas City associated with O. H. Dean and H. M. Langworthy in the practice of that profession.
Mr. McLeod had been in poor health for about two years, coming to Glendale in October of 1919, after retiring from active practice. He came to Kansas City from New York in 1886, and became a clerk in the law office of Dean & Warner, having studied law in the eastern city. Later he was admitted to the bar in Kansas City and became a member of the firm by which he had been employed.
Mr. McLeod was born at Woodstock, New Brunswick, Canada, and in 1855 was graduated from the University of New Brunswick, where he was a member of the law school. He came to Kansas City, where he died in 1898. He did not marry again. For many years Mr. McLeod and several Scottish friends made their home at the southeast corner of Thirty-sixth and Main streets. There he became known as "Chief of the Clan," the little "chief" being a familiar name by which he was known in Kansas City. Later, bachelor quarters were opened in Mr. McLeod's home, and among those to live there were Dr. John F. Binnie, James and William Mackenzie, George Murray, W. H. Mackirdy and Willie MacGregor.
Mr. McLeod was a student and possessed one of the finest libraries in Kansas City, being described by his friends as a man of fine literary tastes. He had devoted much attention to international law, and just prior to his becoming ill had prepared a series of lectures on the subject to deliver at the Kansas City School of Law. He read and spoke French and Italian fluently and he traveled in many lands, making frequent trips to Europe.
Riding to the hounds was one of Mr. McLeod's favorite pastimes, and for many years he maintained a stable of fine hunting horses. When that is now the Country Club district was all farms and pastures, the Missouri Hunt and Polo Club was formed in there, with Mr. McLeod as one of its charter and most enthusiastic members. It is said that he never missed a hunt unless absolutely impossible to be present. He also owned spirited driving horses, which he entered along with his hunters in the horse shows there. Dogs also were one of his hobbies, and he always owned many thoroughbreds.
Mr. McLeod was one of the first men to play golf in Kansas City, and more than thirty years ago he laid out, with a number of his friends who had played the game in Scotland, a course near Thirty-sixth street and Kenwood avenue. Later the Kenwood Golf Club was formed, which was turned absorbed by the Country Club, as was also the Missouri Hunt and Polo Club.
For many years Mr. McLeod owned and maintained a farm a short distance from Kansas City, on Holmes street. There he kept blooded saddle horses.
Mr. McLeod was a director of many institutions and a member of many clubs, among the organizations with which he was affiliated being director of the Pioneer Trust Company and member of the Kansas City and University clubs.
He is survived by two brothers, one living in New Brunswick, Canada, the other, George McLeod, living at the 1345 East Colorado street address, where the deceased resided away. He is also survived by a nephew, D. K. McLeod, of the same address, who accompanied the body to Kansas City, where final exercises and interment were held.

SOCIAL EVENTS
Anniversary Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. King of 343 Riverside drive, celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary last night with a dinner at the home, with covers laid for a number of relatives and friends.
The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of flowers, among them a gorgeous vase of roses, an anniversary gift. This latter formed the centerpiece for the table, where an elaborate dinner was served at 7 o'clock, place cards being miniature pictures of a fox, the idea suggesting Mr. King's connection with the Fox Film company, at Hollywood, as auditor.
The young couple were the recipients of many fine and useful gifts, which were opened and inspected before dinner was served.
Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd King and daughter, Dorothy, brother and wife, of the host, whose residence is 1289 Walworth avenue, Pasadena, and W. C. West, an uncle, of 311 West Colorado street, Glendale, and Mrs. Madelyn Fair Rinehart and daughter, Miss Twila Rinehart, also of Glendale.
Music and games furnished a pleasant evening's entertainment for all.

WELCOME GUESTS TO KIWANIS CLUB

Harmony Prevails at Big Meeting; Gallagher and Shean Make Hit

"Oh, Mr. Gallagher—" "All right." "Well, what is it?" "Is this talk we hear of Glendale truth or bunk?" "Are they building, as they say, a thousand homes a day?" "Are their improvements real or only junk?" "Why, Mr. Shean, yes, Mr. Shean." "They are making nearly every town turn green." "What, with envy?" "Folks are coming in such flocks, that they have to sleep on rocks." "Like Alhambra, Mr. Gallagher?" "Just exactly, Mr. Shean."

This parody sung by Gallagher and Shean, who were personified by Forrest Routh and Jake L. Levin of Alhambra, was the "hit" yesterday noon in the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club. That is, it was one of the "hits," for there were many and the meeting was rather one of Kiwanis "clubs." Eleven of them were represented, including Tacoma, Wash.; Kokomo, Ind.; San Francisco, Modesto, Santa Monica, Los Angeles, Hollywood and Burbank. Seventy-one local members were in attendance. Alhambra turned out forty-four strong and put on the program.

Welcome Guests
Guests were welcomed by A. L. Ferguson, president of the Glendale Kiwanis Club, who expressed the club's appreciation of their presence.

"We certainly appreciate this program that has been put on at Alhambra," he remarked at its conclusion. "It has been an inspiration and a lot of fun. This has been a big day for us."

Charles H. Reed, president of the Alhambra Kiwanis Club, acted as master of ceremonies and Forrest Routh of Alhambra was the song leader. Their songs were accompanied by Clarence Kellogg of Alhambra, also.

Greetings from the Alhambra Chamber of Commerce, which is reported to have a "Kiwanis motor," were brought by its secretary, Karl Keeler.

"We feel over there that any organization can either be a detriment or a—" "Assuredly," thundered Cameron de Hart, Thom of 131 South Brand boulevard, from the foot of the table.

"Kiwanis in Alhambra is truly worth while," continued Kiwanian Keeler, "and we hope that Kiwanis in Glendale is meeting the same need."

"Where is this place, Alhambra?" exclaimed Mr. Thom. "That will cost you 50 cents," interrupted Mr. Reed, and Sergeant-at-Arms Jake Levin of Alhambra scrambled over the tables, which outlined the letter K, to the floor, in order to collect the fine. He got it, too.

One of the Alhambra members on Kiwanis, or rather one of the Kiwanians from Alhambra, was scheduled to speak on the subject, "Why married men make the best husbands," but he was unable to be present—his wife would not let him.

Alhambra's noted community song was sung with a vigor and also the tales of Old MacDonald's farm, with its "chick, chick here; chick, chick there; and chick, chick everywhere," and the "weekly calendar."

The attendance prize was won by Eugene F. Gordon of 119 North Brand boulevard, Secretary Don H. Webb forgot to bring it from 601 East Broadway, the Glendale Hardware store.

A little later one of the Alhambra delegates suddenly fell to the floor in a faint—or rather a faint. A call was immediately made for a doctor because it was felt that he might have suffered a stroke of some kind.

Dr. C. C. Young hurried to the scene, but not from 622 East Broadway, but from an adjacent table which was closer to the victim than the seat of Dr. "Jack" Anderson of 102 West California avenue. After a few seconds, the "suffering" Kiwanian began to moan, and before anyone could put a foot on his face as he lay prone on the floor, he had coughed up a flock of carpet tacks.

"There's a part of the hardware from the attendance prize!" exclaimed somebody. And that's that!

A BOY'S IDEAL

A PROMINENT man said to a friend who was asking him to become actively identified with the church, "I believe in all the church stands for and is working for but I prefer to worship in my own way. There is no pleasure or profit in church attendance for me. Besides, I am indoors all week and feel that I can take Sunday for rest and recreation with a clear conscience."

"That may be true," said the friend, "but, do you know that my boy has taken you as his model, his ideal man? He wants to be like you. If you do not take an interest in church life I cannot expect my boy to do so."

Nearly every boy has in his heart some successful and prominent man who is his ideal. This man may have had the restraining influence of the church in his youth, he may be firmly grounded in Christian principles, he may worship God truly, but, unless he takes an interest in the church, the boy who is holding him up as a model is apt to think there is nothing in religion anyway. "Mr. A. doesn't go to church and he is a splendid fellow, successful, wealthy, highly respected and liberal in his gifts to charities and philanthropies."

So the matter of church attendance is not an entirely personal question after all. We have an obligation to the coming generations, and what is to become of our country if the boys and girls of today and tomorrow can not be made to see the importance of the things the church stands for?

"But, take heed, lest by any means this liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak."

TUJUNGA

TUJUNGA STREET
SURVEY STARTED

Traffic Congestion Starts Agitation to Widen State Highway

New surveys of the main street of Tujunga are being made, including Main, Vista, Sunset, Greeley, Pine and El Centro. Sunset was surveyed some time ago, but the levels established were questioned and the latest survey is to place official grades on these streets. These are some of the main traveled thoroughfares and, with the exception of Sunset boulevard, are very much in need of repair. The winter rains have washed gullies and ravines in the gravel surfaces until a flivver navigating them resembles a Chinese junk on a rough sea.

A move has been started to widen the state highway, which shows that the authorities are coming to recognize the congested condition of traffic on this boulevard at the present time. The paving on this boulevard is excellent by none in the state and holds up under all kinds of traffic, but it was built too narrow for the first place to handle the ever increasing traffic that flows over it continuously. On Sundays and holidays it is almost impossible to pass another car with any degree of safety on account of the rats at the edge of the narrow pavement.

The plans are to widen the highway clear from San Bernardino to San Fernando and these plans will be placed before the proper authorities when the details have been worked out.

Real Estate Active
Over ninety lots have been sold to date in the newly opened "Gem of Tujunga" tract. Among the latest buyers are J. H. Polz and R. P. Adams.

Earl C. Brunner, Tujunga's new jeweler, has also taken a lot in this tract. Antonio Carlissa has bought next to Kilbourn and Sylvia and plans to open a candy kitchen in the building he will erect there.

Frederick W. Plaisted, ex-governor of Maine, has taken two lots at Pine and Michigan avenue, and Percy Smith of Long Beach has taken the opposite corner to him.

John Yakel has bought two lots and will build to suit a tenant. Frank Shinn has also taken one of the lots in this tract.

The Hillhaven tract is still selling fast. Recent purchasers reported in this section were: Drs. Laura B. Betz and Julia L. Morton of Pasadena, Dr. W. J. Davis of Los Angeles, Mrs. Lola P. Hymers of Los Angeles, Mrs. Louise Anderson of Alhambra, Richard G. Glass of Los Angeles, Charles C. Bunker of Los Angeles, Mrs. Louise Howard of Redondo Beach, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Huntington Beach, Dr. Perry M. Lockwood of Los Angeles, Herbert Lloyd of Monterey Park, Lloyd W. Fellows of San Fernando.

BUILDING TOTALS GROW

Glendale's building total is steadily growing. There is reason to believe that April will also be a million dollar month.

LA CRESCENTA

P. T. A. GATHERING
AT LA CRESCENTA

Various Matters Taken Up At Session; Concert to Be Held on April 25

Thursday of this week the P. T. A. held its regular meeting, opened by Mrs. Young, its president. Mrs. Enakson conducted and all joined in saluting the flag. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reporting the P. T. A. fund at present was $37.90.

Mrs. Chrisman, chairman of the room mothers' committee, made her report on work being done. A vote taken and carried will reduce the yearly fees from 50 cents to 25 cents.

Mrs. Angier made a most interesting report on the P. T. A. convention held in Pomona, Thursday, March 22 and attended by many of the La Crescenta P. T. A. members.

A motion made and carried was that straws be provided for the use of the children purchasing milk for school lunch. Mrs. Mark Collins was appointed a committee of one to purchase the straws.

Mrs. Angier also reported on the plans the room mothers have made in regard to the May day festival to be held at the school on that date.

In closing, the members led by Mrs. Burt sang "The P. T. A." The meeting then adjourned until the third Thursday in May. Tea and wafers furnished by the president and served by the room mothers Mesdames Hanson, Miller and Murdoch furnished a social half hour and completed a very satisfactory meeting.

Plan Concert
The music lovers of this district are promised a treat next week, at the concert to be given at the school auditorium on Wednesday, April 25.

Mrs. Nettleton, wife of Dr. Nettleton and a prominent club woman, is at the Good Samaritan Hospital on the sick list. Her friends in this community are earnestly looking forward to her speedy recovery and return.

News from Zona B. Wales of east Montrose Ave., assures her friends of her early return from the long trip she has been enjoying. Journeying down the coast of Mexico through the Panama Canal, thence to Cuba, on to Florida, to New Orleans, thence homeward through the desert route. Mrs. Wales, it will be remembered, made the trip to the Hawaiian Islands last year, and Alaska the year before.

Southern Glendale Club Meets Tuesday
The Southern Glendale Improvement association will meet on Tuesday, April 24, at the Ceritos avenue school house at 7:30 o'clock, announces Mrs. E. V. Bacon, secretary of the association.

Henry Wright, president of the board of supervisors, will speak on the widening of San Fernando road. This is a very important meeting and all members are urged to be present.

When Night" (Shelley); offertory, selection by male quartet; postlude, "Andante" (Battmann).

Central Christian
Music for tomorrow: Morning, anthem, "My Task" (Ashford); solo, selected, Mr. Will J. Myers. At night, Mr. Myers will sing and the choir will render, "When Night Involves the Skies" (Shelley).

Casa Verdugo M. E.
Morning, anthem, "Love Divine" (Porter); offertory solo, "Face to Face" (Johnson) by Mrs. R. D. Jones.

Evening, anthem, "Only Thee" (Abb); offertory solo, selected by Mrs. C. B. Smith.

Glendale Presbyterian
Morning: Prelude, "Melody" (Ashford); anthem, "Yes That Stand in the House" (Spinyne); Miss Elizabeth Mottern, soprano, Mrs. Fannie Marple Retts, contralto and director, J. Malcolmson, baritone, Robert S. Maile, baritone; prayer response, "The Soul That Clings to Thee" (Batiste); soprano solo, "Forever With the Lord" (Gounod); Miss Mottern; postlude, "Closing Voluntary" (Leybach).

Evening: Organ recital, 7:15; "Twilight Song" (Shackley); (a) "Melodie in F" (Rockwell); (c) "Canzonetta" (Rockwell); quartet, "I Was Glad" (Rossini); tenor solo, "Tell Me About the Saviour" (Roma); Mr. Hudry; offertory, "Melody" (Batiste); quartet, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" (Lorenz); postlude, "Allegro Moderato" (Page).

St. Mark's Episcopal Vested choir, directed by Mrs. Chas. A. Parker, Mrs. Joseph Kitt, organist.

Morning, organ prelude, "Allegretto" (Stewart); procession, "Rise, Crowned with Light"; Vespers, (Langdon); Te Deum, (Woodwards); Jubilate (Oldrich); Introit, "We Praise Thy Grace O Saviour"; offertory, "Praise God The Father" (Gounod); recession, "Jerusalem the Golden"; postlude, "Festival March" (Miescher).

Evening: prelude, "Andantino" (Lemore); procession, "We Love the Place, O Lord" (Magnificat) (Smart); Nunc Dimittis (Russell); Introit, "O Thou Who Didst With Love Untold"; Offertory, theme from (Air Varii); recession, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus"; postlude, March (Clark).

EAGLE ROCK

REALTORS INVAD
BEACH GATHERING

Eagle Rock Delegation Goes To Convention Prepared For Boost Work

Realty Board rallied this morning at 8:30 o'clock and left with banners flying, all in readiness to give Eagle Rock the biggest boost in its history, before delegates from all parts of California, who are to attend the State Realty Convention at Long Beach today.

J. B. Brown, secretary of the Eagle Rock Realty Board, in referring to the future of Eagle Rock as a part of Los Angeles, said: "Eagle Rock real estate has been booming. It is the aim of our realtors to make this section the most beautiful district of Los Angeles. The many desirable home sites and surroundings are not known to thousands of Los Angeles home-seekers, and we are planning to do everything possible to bring Eagle Rock to their notice."

The delegation to the convention was composed of more than thirty local realtors. They carried literature making known the attractions of Eagle Rock hills as home sites, and have pledged themselves to bring back numerous converts to the attractiveness of their city.

Plan Reception
One of the most notable events of a social character to take place in Eagle Rock this season is the reception which will be given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Besselo, 155 Ellenwood drive, Sunday afternoon, in honor of three members of the family circle who are leaving shortly for a trip to Europe.

Mrs. F. Besselo, Mrs. T. Delmonico, and Mrs. G. Demateis are to be the honored guests, and more than eighty friends and relatives will be present at the fete. The Besselo home is to be prettily decorated with blossoms and greenery, and the grounds will be the scene of sociability throughout the afternoon. Mr. Besselo, Sr., who has just returned from Panama, after a month's absence, will also be present, to assist in giving the departing ones a send-off long to be remembered.

The travelers will sail from New Orleans to New York, and will embark from there for Italy, via Genoa. Their journey will also take them to France and Spain, and will cover several months, the party planning to return in early November.

Among the guests will be Mr. and Mrs. L. Vignolo, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vignolo, Mr. and Mrs. G. Pagliano, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pagliano, Mr. and Mrs. R. Demateis, Mr. and Mrs. J. Vail, Mr. and Mrs. G. Gai, Mr. and Mrs. F. Begue, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tarabino, Mr. and Mrs. T. Tarabino, Mr. and Mrs. G. Franchetto, Mr. and Mrs. L. Dell'Orto, Mr. and Mrs. A. Martini, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gandini, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Besselo, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lichner, Mr. and Mrs. John Besselo, Mrs. Agnes Toole, Mr. and Mrs. N. Canepa, Mr. and Mrs. C. Castruccio, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Castruccio, Miss Louise Vignolo, Mrs. P. Bodrero, Mrs. A. B. Hambro, Mr. and Mrs. J. Balano, Miss Josephine Balano, Mr. and Mrs. C. Blackman, Mr. and Mrs. T. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. J. DeBartolo, Miss Lulu DeBartolo, Mr. and Mrs. E. Pozzo, Mr. and Mrs. T. Zarro, Mr. and Mrs. J. Musso, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ferro, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferrario, Miss M. Farrio, and Mrs. R. Giltner.

Musical entertainment will be furnished by Mrs. Musso, an accomplished violinist, and Miss Lucille Besselo, who possesses a beautiful coloratura soprano voice. Miss Nancy Delmonico will accompany Miss Besselo.

Dinty Moore Party
The Misses Catherine and Lucille Besselo of 155 Ellenwood drive were hostesses last week-end to a group of their girl friends. The guests enjoyed a most novel time, the entertainment being in the form of a Dinty Moore party, carried out with delightful realism, even to a deliciously prepared dinner of corned beef and cabbage. Sunday was spent in "kidding," and the party went for a long ride in the afternoon. Those present were the Misses Marie, Meriam, Jean Irma, Imota, Theresa, and Franchetta Tarabino, and Miss Cecilia Dellamora.

Light dinner was served in the canyon beyond the Dellamora residence on Douglas avenue.

"Goodfellowship," states S. B. Schoube, "is one of the first things the Chamber of Commerce seeks to promote here."

Mr. Schoube is one of the promoters engaged by the chamber to inaugurate its drive for membership, with 400 as the goal. With the aim of good fellowship in mind, a series of get-together meetings are being planned, the first to take place next Tuesday night at the Women's clubhouse.

Drive is Success
The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church have been carrying on a successful drive for clothing and money for the benefit of the David and Martha home at La Verne, where ninety-one orphans are housed.

At the meeting Wednesday afternoon, $58 and fifty articles of clothing were collected, to be delivered at the home. Mrs. L. E. Hammond, prominent worker in the society, stated that this year's offering was received with expressions of deep gratitude by the inmates of this institution.

Mrs. W. M. Duncan, of 2729 West Avenue 37, was voted in as a new member of the American

CRIPPLED TOTS RIDE IN SAFETY

Reo Speed Wagons Used to Carry Little Children to Their Schools

Many are the unusual problems which confront municipalities, but one of the most knotty and perplexing has been solved by the department of motor transportation of the city of Detroit.

The matter of transporting 320 crippled children to and from their special schools each day was the task put up to the city of Detroit with the result that twelve Reo Speed Wagons equipped with bus bodies were purchased after a careful study and survey of the various motor vehicles which were adaptable for use in this capacity.

In the selection of the transportation units it was necessary to take two vital factors into consideration. First, the children, naturally delicate, would have to ride protected from the jars and jolts of ordinary bus travel. Second, the power plant in any bus to be absolutely dependable as a stalled motor on a cold night or unnecessary delays in making the trip might cause serious consequences to the young passengers.

Considering all types and manner of busses from the standpoint of chassis construction and motor performance the city of Detroit finally placed an order with the Detroit branch of the Reo Motor Car company for twelve Speed Wagons.

Shortly after the order was placed, the children were told about their new busses and each day until the Speed Wagons were delivered, interest was at fever heat.

With each Speed Wagon bus there is a driver and a police officer and many a heated argument takes place when the question arises as to who is going to "ride up in front with the officer."

Each day and each ride brings cheer to these boys and girls whose days at best are dark ones.

COURTESY IN MOTORING IS NEED

Make Roads Safe Is Plea Of Club; Here Are Good Rules to Follow

How to be courteous—though a motorist!

That courtesy week is a good time for auto drivers to learn the fine points which lead to becoming a "helpful motorist" is the substance of a statement issued today by officials of the Auto club of Southern California.

Motoring courtesy is a thing of actions rather than words, say the officials. It isn't so much what the auto driver says to the other fellow, as what he does to him—or doesn't do. Courtesy which applies in the city between motorists is as vital as courtesy which applies on the open road.

Make Driving Safe
Here are some "courtesy" rules for motorists to adopt if they wish to make Southern California a hospitable place for thousands of eastern visitors who are coming here by motor this summer, according to the club:

1—Don't cut-in in front of another car that is moving at the same rate of speed you are.

2—Don't honk your horn loudly at a bewildered pedestrian who is trying his best to get out of your way.

3—If you are a pedestrian, don't saunter across in front of rapidly-moving motor cars with the air of a duchess, because the car sometimes cannot stop even if the driver wants to.

4—Don't drive in the middle of the street or road if you are going at a very slow pace. Keep well over to the right.

Don't Drive Too Fast!

5—Don't take up any more room in parking your car in Los Angeles than is necessary. That is, if there is space enough for two cars at the curb, park your car so that there will be room enough for another occupant in that space.

6—When passing children playing in the street, slow down and blow your horn. That is not only courtesy, it is absolute precaution against accidents.

7—Don't stick your arm out of the car for any purpose other than to give a correct arm signal. For instance, don't point out the scenery, no matter how enthusiastic you may be about California.

Attractive By-Ways In Southland Prove Lure to Motorists

Why follow the main highway through endless congestion when you go on a pleasure trip, ask the touring bureau of the Auto club of Southern California?

In other words, the club is suggesting today that the motorist: find and visit the beautiful by-ways which lead into scenic spots which are almost deserted, while the same old main roads are thronged with thousands of autos each week-end.

Would it not be a relief, Mr. Motorist, to leave the hustle and bustle of the thronged roads once in a while and tour quietly off over some good dirt road into the quiet seclusion of a beautiful canyon or valley? A lot of motorists enjoy a little driving once in a while on graveled highways, but they are like sheep, say motoring authorities, in following the authorized roads Sunday after Sunday instead of doing a little exploring for themselves.

The Auto Club touring bureau, with branches in practically every Southern California community, announces today that it is prepared to suggest a series of short trips leading off the main graveled roads for motorists who may inquire at any of the Club offices.

Have you visited some of the canyons in your vicinity recently? Road inspectors report that many of the most beautiful spots in Southern California are practically deserted on Saturdays and Sundays, while the main roads are congested to a point where accidents are frequent and sometimes fatal. Get the "dirt road habit," suggests the Club. Don't hesitate to leave the pavement for a little while and jaunt slowly and peacefully along some quiet stream or bit of sea coast. You will be well rewarded for the experience.

Poor Old Dobbin Is Losing More Ground

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 21. Sixty-five per cent of the farmers in Pennsylvania drive automobiles. This rapid growth of the automobile in farming sections of the state is indicated in figures prepared by the bureau of statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Reports to the bureau indicate that 132,732 farmers in the state operate automobiles, an increase of 5 per cent in the last year.

In addition to passenger cars on the farm, the bureau reports that there were 21,791 motor trucks in use on the farms, which is an increase of more than 4000 during 1922.

SET RECORD IN MOTOR BUILDING

Figures Show 1923 to Be Best in Industry; Big Sales Under Way

NEW YORK, April 21.—During March 346,383 motor cars and motor trucks were manufactured. This is the largest month's production in the history of the business, as it exceeds by 57,000 the record of 289,011 made in June, 1922.

Reports of shipments made to the directors' meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce recently also showed that the production for the first three months of this year, reaching 867,628, is more than double the same period in 1922.

This confirms the belief that 1923 will be a three million year. It is not expected, however, that production will go ahead as rapidly during the remainder of the year.

It is believed that 3,000,000 is an outside figure for the 1923 output and this will depend on favorable conditions of the materials market.

Production facilities for the manufacture of closed bodies are inadequate to the demand and this is likely to prove a limiting factor.

Rural Conditions

The extraordinary sales of cars in the spring is expected to have its modifying influences toward a quieter condition after the first half of the year, although the popularity of closed cars has tended to stabilize the market for motor vehicles, creating an all-year demand. Closed car sales are averaging about 50 per cent of total.

Another favorable condition for the fall is the fact that rural trade conditions, in the main, are much improved. Trade reports from Iowa show that the farm demand for motor vehicles is 50 per cent to 300 per cent better than last year. More cash buyers are reported in Kansas.

Demand for light trucks is reported good in most sections of the country. There is a favorable market for heavy trucks in Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and parts of Ohio, as well as other points where there is considerable industrial activity.

And those that live by the sword shall perish by the paper money.

HUGE LOSS IN TAXING METHOD

Estimate More Than 400,000 Machines Which Escape Payment

Automobiles escaping payment of personal property taxes in California are conservatively estimated at 400,000 by the California State Automobile association and county assessors who have investigated the situation. Figuring each car at a valuation of only $300, and with an average tax rate of only $2 personal property taxes on these cars would yield the counties of California $2,400,000 annually.

The chances are that the actual returns would be much higher if every car paid a personal property tax.

The assessor of San Joaquin county estimates that county loses $30,000 a year in taxes on automobiles which cannot be collected and County Assessor B. C. Erwin of Sacramento county, says the total is almost as large here.

Would Require Certificates
To remedy this situation, the county assessors' association has a bill before the legislature which would make it mandatory upon every owner of an automobile to secure a certificate from the county tax collector showing that personal property taxes on his machines have been paid for the year before he could complete the annual registration of the car and secure his license plates from the state motor vehicle department.

The plan, it is announced, has been approved by Will H. Marsh, chief of the motor vehicle division. It is being urged as an amendment to the proposed new state motor vehicle act but may be brought out as a separate bill.

Flat Dwellers Escape
Persons who live in apartments and flats, and who change their place of residence often, traveling men, and hotel guests, are the ones who are escaping personal property taxes on automobiles, it is pointed out by Assessor B. C. Erwin, of Sacramento county.

Owners of automobiles in this class are rather elusive, Erwin declares. They register their car and give an address. The assessor secures a list of automobile owners from the motor vehicle department and checks up those who are not owners of real estate. He starts out to locate the owner, only to find he has moved to some other part of the city, or left for some other county, and, having no real estate against which the car can be assessed, the owner escapes taxation.

Traveling men will give a hotel address, and when the assessor calls he is in some other part of the state.

Small Home Owner Hit
The man with a small home and a car never escapes. The assessor must always can be charged against the real estate and he can't escape, but the fly-by-nighter pays no taxes of any kind slips away in his automobile, often the only thing he owns of value and the county loses the revenue.

A few years back in one certain California county the grand jury discovered personal property taxes had been paid on only five automobiles the year previous while there were some 4,000 in the county.

The assessors are hoping their bill will be approved by the legislature as they believe it will enable them to collect thousands of dollars in revenue for their respective counties which it is practically impossible to reach at the present time.

How Is Your Car? Check Up On This

To drive a car economically, the tires must be up to standard pressure, all bearings in good order, properly lubricated, the wheels in alignment, brakes properly adjusted, first-class cylinder oil, not too thick; good gasoline, distilled product preferred to casing-head, ignition system in first-class condition, valves well seated, pistons, rings and cylinders in first-class condition, carburetor adjusted to give a slightly thin mixture, spark properly advanced, gasoline system free from leaks, and everything as nearly right as possible.

Canada Registration Near Half a Million

Canadian registration of motor vehicles is nearly at the half million mark, as it reached 499,022 at the end of 1922, which was a 9 per cent increase over 1921.

Texas Has Greatest Mileage in Highways

There are 2,819,000 miles of highways in the United States, of which Texas has the largest mileage, totaling 132,816, and Kansas comes next with 124,143.

LIVING COST INCREASE FAR OUTSTRIPS GASOLINE

Relative Prices Of Past Ten Years Provide Interesting Study

In the face of a constantly soaring demand, the price of gasoline during the last ten years has made no such advance as the cost of living. The chart is based on figures of the department of labor and the war industries Board, and shows the relative costs of living and gasoline, with the prices of December, 1913, considered as 100 per cent, or normal. During this period the number of automobiles, the index of demand for gasoline, has increased from 1,248,058 to 12,364,377—almost exactly tenfold—while the demand for food, houses, clothing and the other necessities which account for the cost of living has increased only in small degree. The oil industry has met the flooding demand for gasoline, coming hand in hand with the vastly increased cost of labor and equipment, and by economic management and the development of new methods of refining kept the price of gasoline relatively far below general living costs, it is claimed.

Gasoline Shortage Is Not Due This Year

Press reports show that the daily consumption of gasoline, from present indications, will exceed 2,000,000 gallons during the coming summer. The present supply of gasoline is sufficient to meet demands of the country, but at the present rate of increase in consumption, the national demand will be a maximum which may overtop the supply and create a shortage, at least in the Eastern part of the United States.

There are two factors which will be instrumental in contributing to the shortage, if there is one: (1) The rapid increase in the number of automobiles in the country, an increase which accounted for a jumping of 2,600,000 cars in 1912 to 12,000,000 in 1922, with 1923 expected to show an increase of 26 per cent over 1922; (2) The shrinkage of oil production in many of the old fields of the country.

The fact that there are continual improvements in refining processes which enable the manufacturers to extract a large content of gasoline from each barrel of crude than formerly, will in some measure prevent an acute shortage during the present year.

Keep Parts Separated And Save Much Time

When an automobile engine is to be disassembled, the mechanic will find that a great deal of time is saved if all parts are separated into different sections. Reserve a box for all parts pertaining to one unit or system, such as carburetor, magneto, valve system, pump, etc.

Prices of Hupmobiles Increased by Factory

DETROIT, April 21.—Increases on all models of Hupmobiles, ranging from $50 to $85, were announced yesterday. Increased cost of materials, which have risen from 25 to 40 per cent, is given as the reason for the increases.

RUBBER COVERED

To prevent the foot from slipping off the clutch or brake pedal, which usually becomes smooth through long wear, cut a piece of rubber from an old tire, the size and shape of the pedal, and have it bolted to the surface of the metal.

LOCATING LEAKS

Leaks in the carburetor float can be located by immersing the part in hot water. In this way, any gasoline in the interior will be vaporized, and will force its way out of the hole, which may be located by watching for the bubbles to rise.

CHEAP IN GERMANY

At the present rate of exchange, 50,000 marks to the dollar, the finest passenger automobile in Germany can be purchased for between $100 and $200.

Another Substitute For Gasoline, Claim

TUCSON, Ariz., April 21.—Another substitute for gasoline is declared to have been found. The name "Bevoline" has been attached to the compound by its inventor, Bevil G. Granville, a Tucson chemist. He refuses to tell just what the stuff is made from, but states it need cost not over 5 cents a gallon. He declares that on a test with a measured ounce, a Ford engine ran for two minutes nine seconds, while an ounce of gasoline kept the engine moving for only one minute forty seconds. The inventor intimates that he plans creation of a machine or apparatus by which a garage owner may make the motor material he dispenses. Mr. Granville is building a manufacturing laboratory in which he expects to produce the liquid in five-gallon lots.

Somehow or other, a man enjoying complete liberty always reminds us of a small boy monkeying with a razor.

Must Give 50 Miles To Gallon Before Long

TOLEDO, April 21.—That the automobile which cannot run fifty miles on a gallon of gasoline will be unsalable in four years was the prediction made by C. F. Kettering, president of the General Motors Research Corporation, before the 400 members of the factory management class of the University of Toledo and guests at the annual banquet of the class held here.

Three Million Cars to Be Made This Year

"Based on figures for January and February, and depending somewhat on supplies of closed bodies, production of motor cars and trucks should approach the 3,000,000 mark in 1923," says Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

16 ENTER IN RAISIN DAY CONTEST

150-Mile Race for Purse of $15,000 Purse Draws Out Great Field

FRESNO, April 21.—Sixteen cars have been officially entered in the Raisin Day national champion automobile racing classic to be held here Thursday, April 26, over a 150-mile course for a purse of $15,000. Entries closed last night and Manager H. E. Patterson announces that the race will bring together one of the greatest fields of drivers ever appearing in the west.

Tommy Milton will drive his 122-cubic inch racer here, making the first appearance of a 122-cubic-inch type of car on any speedway in the United States. Pitted against Milton will be the larger and faster 183-cubic-inch cars, but, due to the small size of the Fresno track, Milton will be able to compete on equal terms with the others.

Klein May Drive
Milton is also entering the 183-cubic-inch car with which he won the 1921 championship. While he has not officially named his driver for this car, it is understood that Art Klein will occupy the pilot's seat. Klein, formerly with the Durant team, is being replaced on it by Leon Duray, famous Indianapolis star.

The official entry list, together with the numbers, is as follows: No. 1, Jimmy Murphy; 2, Frank Elliott; 3, Bennett Hill; 4, Eddie Hearne; 5, Earl Cooper; 6, Leon Duray; 7, Cliff Durant; 8, Art Klein; 9, Peter de Paolo; 10, Joe Thomas; 14, P. D. Palmer; 12, Harry Hart; 21, W. D. Morton; 24, Jerry Wunderlich; 20, Lou Wilson; 11, Tommy Milton. Elimination trials will be held on April 24, at which time four cars will be selected from competitors, inasmuch as A. A. A. rules place the maximum number of cars allowed to compete on the track at 12.

Three National Champs
This race will bring together three national champions—Eddie Hearne of 1920, Tommy Milton of 1921 and Jimmy Murphy of 1922. It will bring the present holder of the Nares $1000 trophy and winner of the last race, Earl Cooper, and it also will bring the first appearance in the west, outside of Los Angeles, of the two great Indianapolis stars, W. D. Morton and Leon Duray. It will be Frank Elliott's first appearance in a Durant car and will be the first race outside of Los Angeles that the Durant team has competed in. The track has been entirely remodeled and repaired and is in very fast condition. The grandstands have been breezed and accommodations for more than 50,000 people are being made. Approximately half of the grandstand has now been sold out.

After all the interest we have shown in those Turks, the hate-raising act appear at all shocked by our atrocities.

Know Its Hidden Values They Keep Essex Young

In Essex particular attention is bestowed on hidden values. They make the real difference in cars.

For weight carried the Essex frame is the sturdiest built, save one. Experts here and abroad call its motor the finest of its size.

It is because of its hidden values that Essex cars that have seen 50,000 and 60,000 miles are today as dependable as when new.

NEW FOUNDRY TO CAST GRAY IRON

Studebaker's Two Million Dollar Plant Will Reduce Manufacturing Cost

Erection of a new plant, to cover a space of 13 acres, and that will be devoted entirely to the manufacture of gray iron, is announced by the Studebaker corporation, in a letter received by the local agent, Packer Auto Co., 245 South Brand boulevard, and when the plant is completed the Studebaker corporation will have one of the largest and most completely equipped foundries in the United States.

Gray iron, it is stated, is the most durable material for making castings for automobiles, and the inclusion of these parts in the Studebaker cars will work for added efficiency and long life in the machines, while the fact that they are made in the Studebaker's own factory will tend to reduce costs by eliminating the many extra profits that have to be paid to outside manufacturers who supply the firm at this time. The new foundry will cost over $2,000,000 and will have a daily capacity of 150 tons, which can be increased to 240 tons a day by a slight rearrangement of the factory's equipment. The parts turned out in the factory will be partly machined before being sent to the other plants, and approximately 1500 more workers will be employed in the various branches of the plant as soon as it is completed and in running order.

CAR REFINEMENT IS VITAL POINT

Buick Official Declares Design Is Important in Buying Car

That individuality in design and refinement in appointments are factors that should not be overlooked in the purchase of an automobile, is the assertion of Ray S. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., 237 South Brand boulevard, Buick agents. "It goes without saying that the all-important factor to be considered in the purchase of an automobile is its mechanical equipment," he declared. "With that out of the way, it is natural for the discriminating buyer to next consider body design, comfort and appointments. If the head of the family fails to, it is a certainty that his better-half will. More than ever before body designers are influenced by style and refinements, for the public has been educated to seek the most modern ideas in this regard—and, furthermore, it demands them."

Now Is Good Time To Clean Your Car

Although summer, which is sometimes personified as a young maiden, is coyly retreating and so far has eluded her wooers, the calendar tells us she must be with us soon. To the automobile owner, as to the careful housewife, spring time means house cleaning time. Perhaps the "old bus" has been out all winter—more and more automobile owners have begun to use their cars all winter. If that is the case, it probably needs some repairs. If it is old, a few coats of paint will not only make the car more respectable, but will do a great deal toward preserving the body.

Some motorists prefer to put on a coat of the same color each year and others delight in changing the hue of the car each year. It is almost like getting a new car, they say. Paint is not the only thing needed, although its presence or absence has a great deal to do with the appearance of the automobile. A general overhauling is more important than the paint and during the long summer drives it will insure the pleasure party against accidents which might spoil the day. The careful motorist goes over his car for mechanical defects, worn parts or loose nuts, or has a mechanic do it for him.

Then there are the other details which come in. The upholstery may need attention or the top, which has been holding up the winter rains, may need a few repairs. A good, thorough spring revamping will be found the best preparation for summer motoring.

Output of Industry In Second Position

In total value of output the automobile industry is now second only to agriculture. Its estimated output for 1922 was $2,725,000,000. The industry requires 20 per cent of the annual production of gasoline and 81 per cent of the crude rubber imported. Of the 12,700,000 employees supported by industry and transportation, 12 per cent depend on the automobile industry.

OVERPRIMING AT FAULT

When struggling with a balky engine, do not overprime. The usual tendency is to pull out the dash adjustment and to put "gas" into the priming cups. Many times the mixture is too rich to fire. Leave the compression cocks open and spin the engine with the starter. This will thin down the mixture and will probably start the motor.

Low Prices For Cars Are Bar To Thieves, Is Claim

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—"Low price levels for new automobiles are rapidly eliminating the possible market for stolen motor vehicles," says C. A. Vance, general manager of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, and suggests that it will have a tremendous influence toward reducing the number of thefts. The association has completed a compilation of theft records for 1922 which show improvement in the matter of recoveries as compared to the thefts and recoveries in 1921. Reports from twenty-eight "index" cities for which complete five-year figures have been kept by the association show that recoveries in 1922 were 78 per cent of thefts reported to the police departments of those cities.

"The number of thefts in 1922 were less than in 1921, but were higher than any of the other four preceding years," says Mr. Vance. "Whatever the cause may have been the total thefts and recoveries show a change for improvement. In the previous four years the trend was upward in total thefts and the percentage of recoveries steadily grew less."

"New cars have reached a low price level in 1922 and 1923. It is now possible to buy a new automobile for about the price that a person would have to pay to a thief for a stolen vehicle. The selling price of used cars have settled down to an average of about $350 a car. The automobile thief steals for profit. If his market has been changed to where he must sell for less than $350 there will be little reward for so much risk. Taking the profit out of his efforts almost automatically takes his incentive away."

"Records of twenty-eight cities disclose that 35,333 motor vehicles were stolen in 1922 and 23,111 recovered. The number unrecovered was 22 per cent, which is the best record made by the police departments since 1918 when 21 per cent were unrecovered."

BIG DEMAND FOR ENCLOSED TYPES

Hudson and Essex Models Are Sought by Buyers at Local Salesroom

The arrival of four carloads of Hudson and Essex models of various types at the Kelley Motor company's storerooms at 228 North Brand boulevard, within the next few days, will insure prompt delivery of the unfilled orders that are now on hand and will permit the firm to keep in stock, for a short time, sufficient cars to supply the demands of several of their clients who are planning on buying cars this spring.

The present season is witnessing an important increase in the demand for closed models in both makes, as compared with that for the open cars, and the run on Hudson and Essex sedans has been the outstanding feature of the firm's business since last summer. This demand is based, the firm states, on the attractive appearance of the two cars, coupled with their sterling values and the merit that is an inherent part of every car turned out by the Hudson company, while the low prices that have been in effect have also brought buyers to the Kelley Motor Co.'s salesrooms who realize the fact that sterling performance and moderate price can be combined in an organization that has the facilities possessed by the Hudson Motor company.

Prospects for business during the summer, it is stated, were never brighter, and an increased turnover is looked for in every class of car.

We still have government by and for the people, but there appears to be darned little government of the people.

AUTO FIRM MUST RENDER SERVICE

Maxwell Agent Tells Plans To Handle Repairs for Customers

The purchaser of a motor car today must be satisfied not only as to what is in the automobile that he is buying, but in the service he can expect after his purchase.

Service does not mean something for nothing, but doing what the purchaser wants done intelligently, economically and promptly. This means that the successful automobile dealer today must have a service station equipped with all modern devices to cut down labor costs in making repairs and adjustments.

No automobile has ever been designed that does not require some occasional repair and adjustment, and every automobile owner wants that work done as promptly and with as little labor expense as possible. Realizing this necessity, we have equipped our shop so as to handle service and repair work for Maxwell-Chalmers owners at a minimum of labor expense, says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street.

We have also provided an ample stock of parts, so that the customer does not have to pay for the time of a man going into the city to pick up what parts are necessary in his service and repair work.

It is through the boosting of the hundreds of satisfied Maxwell and Chalmers owners in this territory that our business has increased so rapidly and you now see so many Maxwell and Chalmers cars on the streets in and around Glendale, said Mr. Clark.

OFFICIAL TELLS POLICY OF FIRM

Welcome Chance to Advise Buyers About Merits
Of Makes of Cars

The policy of George T. Smith, Willys-Knight and Overland dealer, 228 South Brand boulevard, from the prospective purchaser's view point, is expressed by H. C. Kennedy, sales manager for that organization, when he says:

"The owner of an automobile alone can pass the final opinion upon the merits of any particular car."

"The claims of the manufacturer, the opinion of the dealer, even the opinion of the general public, do not constitute the final word. You yourself who own and drive the car can say what is the degree of satisfaction that car can render."

"If the car has been purchased from one who has a sincere personal interest in the performance of the car, the owner of it is apt to enjoy its use during all the years of its life. We ask no better than that the prospective purchaser of an automobile should talk with people who have dealt with us. We welcome every opportunity to discuss these points with those who are contemplating the purchase of an automobile. We know that ultimately the time will come when every man who can use or enjoy a car will own one. For that reason, we are always glad to talk shop with anyone, whether he contemplates purchasing this year or the next or at some still more distant future time."

"Some day you will buy an automobile. In the meantime, talk to some of those in this community who drive Overland and Willys-Knight cars. Come in and get acquainted with us."

CLEANING PIPES

A plugged gasoline or oil pipe can be cleaned out by using the tire pump. A quick, sharp stroke of the pump will force air into the disconnected pipe at considerable pressure, and, if not too tightly plugged, will blow it clear. If this fails, of course, a wire must be used.

NEW SET STATE LAWS REQUIRED

Auto Regulations for Change
In Industry Prove to be Necessary

By GIL A. COWAN
Member of Evening News Staff
CRAMER, April 21.—
The assembly motor vehicle committee giving the Breed motor the last glance, it now becomes apparent that there will be new regulations for the use of automobiles.

The senate already has passed the measure providing for new fees, new weight limits, etc., as well as the bill which provides for a cent gasoline tax. Greatly used revenue for highway will result.

However, former Senator William Scott got the assembly committee to top off a million when he had the $10 flat weight tax taken from the so-called "flivver trucks" equipped with pneumatic tires. Perhaps the senate will not agree to this amendment which puts a premium on using one class of machines.

Ready to Advise

Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the state motor vehicle department, is a close observer of all the new proposals, while representatives of the University of California illuminating engineering department are on hand to advise with the lawmakers.

Incidentally, Mr. Marsh will have to do quite a bit of reorganizing in his department, and the records set in previous years will no longer furnish a financial comparison if the flat $3 license fee is on the statute books. At the same time he will be responsible for the collection of tens of millions of dollars in gasoline, weight and license levies.

Outgrows Legislation

The automotive industry seemingly outgrows its code every six or eight years, and constant efforts to keep up with the endless procession of motor vehicles in California is necessary. What is good in 1923 will probably be inadequate in 1930, although many

INSPECTION PREPARATORY TO A TRIP

Neglect In This Direction May Mean Loss Of Life

A car that is to be used for a tour of considerable length requires a special preparatory inspection of its mechanism and equipment, because it is likely to be called upon for higher sustained speeds and harder duty than in every-day service, it may be operated under driving conditions decidedly more hazardous than ordinary and it may be used in localities where repairs and even ordinary supplies are not readily obtainable. The following suggestions are offered: Examine the tires and make sure they show no signs of weakness and are properly inflated. See that the spare is sound and pumped up, that the supply of inner tubes and valve-plungers is adequate and that emergency repair materials are on board. Fill the storage battery and be sure that the solution tests properly. Do not neglect the spare bulb equipment for the lamps. Look out that you have one or more first-class spark plugs and an extra fan belt as

MOST ECONOMICAL SPEED

H. A. asks: Does the speed of a car, whether driven fast or slow, have any effect on the distance it will go on a gallon of gasoline?
In other words will it run the same distance on a gallon of gasoline at ten miles an hour as it would at forty miles an hour?

Answer: The speed makes a very decided difference in fuel economy. When a car is running very slow the engine is wasteful of fuel and the development of each horsepower wastes more gasoline than it does at higher speed and heavier loads. This makes fuel economy very low at very low speed. On the other hand for very high speeds road resistance and air resistance call for a very large expenditure of power and a high rate of fuel consumption. This also makes the gasoline economy rather low.
There is a range of moderate speeds at which engine economy is fairly good and at the same time the power required is not excessively great, and somewhere within this range is to be found the speed at which the greatest mileage per gallon is attainable.
Roughly speaking, this speed is somewhere between fifteen and

THIS ENGINE KNOCKS

R. D. F. asks: The engine of my car knocks when it is pulling hard. Is this due to carbon or from other causes?

Answer: If the sound you hear is of a clanking metallic nature and not of a heavy pounding character and it cannot be stopped by retarding the spark, it is probably a "carbon knock," especially if you have run your car over two thousand miles since you had the engine decarbonized. With the fuel now available, if after a couple of thousand of miles of running, the engine begins to clank, it is a safe presumption that it requires cleaning.

MOTOR PASSPORT

An operator of a motor vehicle should not forget to carry both certificate of registration and license or operator's card (if any) on his person. In case of violation, the possession of these may save humiliation and embarrassment. In some jurisdictions failure to have them is in itself an offense.

OLDSMOBILE CAR ON HARD TRIP

Regular Stock Auto Makes Remarkable Showing in Road Test Tour

Nearly twelve months have elapsed since W. W. Roland, known to Wisconsin motorists as "Brownie," the automobile editor of the Milwaukee Journal, started on his annual tour over Wisconsin roads. He chose the Oldsmobile Model 47, light eight, for the trip, despite the fact that in his previous six annual tours he had used heavier, more expensive automobiles.

In exactly twenty-six days,
"Brownie" covered 8,064 miles, traveling over every state and county highway in Wisconsin.
This first tour of over 8,000 miles marked the beginning of the 50-000-mile road test through which this now famous car has passed.
"Brownie" operated on a schedule, having set a period of thirty days as the time limit, but the light eight carried him through in twenty-six days, and the only trouble encountered on the entire trip was the breaking of two rivets in the spare tire carrier. This broke all of "Brownie's" previous records both for speed and absence of trouble.

Tod Houle, who accompanied "Brownie" on his trip, took the light eight at the end of the 8,064 miles, and in 123 1/2 days of actual running he ran the total up to 50,000 miles, covering practically every road in Wisconsin and Northern Michigan, or a distance equal to twice the circumference of the earth or sixteen and one-half times across the United States from coast to coast.

The average daily mileage for the entire distance, including the "Brownie" tour, was 334 1/2 miles.
The greatest mileage in a single day was 636 miles, while the worst roads were frequently chosen to see how the car would perform, and it was not favored in any way throughout the entire test.

"The car was a regular stock car," said C. H. Hunter, local dealer yesterday, "being simply one of the cars delivered from the Oldsmobile factory in Lansing,
Mich., to the Print Motor Car Company, Oldsmobile distributor for Wisconsin and the northern peninsula of Michigan. Its marvelous performance on the "Brownie" tour suggested to L. D.
Print of Milwaukee the idea of keeping the car on the road until it had covered 50,000 miles, and thus complete a most thorough and rigid test under actual driving conditions."

COMPANY OFFERS LOW TIRE PRICES

C. H. Montgomery Tells Why Concern Can Sell at Reduced Rates

"We believe that no lower tire prices than ours can be found anywhere," states C. H. Montgomery, manager of the Automobile Tire Company, 143 South Brand boulevard, "and we invite comparison and inspection."

"One reason our prices are so low is that we are a branch of a chain store system established in 1909, with fourteen stores in operation at the present time. With stores in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena, Long Beach and many other surrounding points, in addition to Glendale, our company can buy in carload lots, from the factory, and sell to the consumer at wholesale prices, making our business prosper by volume of sales rather than by margin of profit."

Cash Business

"Another reason why we can sell tires at the prices we offer, is because we do a strictly cash business. We pay cash when we buy from the factories, and we sell for cash to the consumer. This business throughout saves buyers dollars on every tire."

Mr. Montgomery states that the president of the chain of Automobile Tire Company stores is H. A.
Demerest, and that a new store has just been opened in Santa Ana.

until May 1st

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

See the nearest Firestone Dealer.

NEW AUTO AGENT PICKS GLENDALE

Rickenbacker Salesman to Serve This Territory With Full Line

With the opening of the Rickenbacker agency at 120 South Maryland by A. M. Shoffner, another of the country's leading car salesmen, the new distributing agency to locate here, where, within the ten days that he has been established, a number of prospects have called to see the car and to have it demonstrated, and Mr. Shoffner expects to close several of these prospects within a few days.

One of the main features of the Rickenbacker car is the air cleaner that takes the dirt from the air that passes through the carburetor and thus eliminates the greater part of the carbon that accumulates in the engine, while the two fly-wheels with which the car is equipped, are another talking point that exercises an important influence in helping prospects to decide on the Rickenbacker.

Mr. Shoffner has been engaged in the automobile business in Los Angeles for several years and he owns a machine shop there at present. Within a short time he expects to open a service department here in connection with his agency and to branch out in several allied lines in order to render his patrons the best possible service in every department. He has all models of the car on display at his showroom new and is giving daily demonstrations.

CARBURETOR EFFICIENCY

The correct mixture in the carburetor is noted when the engine runs without choking, popping or missing in the lowest possible speed, or at any speed between these two extremes. The color of the exhaust flame should be a faint blue or purple.

VALVE-IN-HEAD SCHEME RESULTS IN BIG SUCCESS

Experimentation On Ford Car Helps Out Acceleration, Is Claim

"More power than you'll ever need," was the verdict of this fast motorist after trying out the new Rajo equipped Ford. Inset shows, Western Auto salesman explaining new overhead valve system for Fords to motor enthusiasts.

Flexibility—that quality in an automobile engine that will combine the advantages of throttling down to a low rate of travel with quick acceleration—has for years commanded the close attention of automotive engineers. Congestion of traffic, which calls for a slow pace, then rapid movement, emphasizes more and more the need for such a motor. Country roads as well as condensed traffic again call for flexibility when the driver wishes to pass the car ahead.

Experimenting with the Ford car to give it increased power without overheating or straining the motor has carried mechanical wizards in many directions—some insisted that it is carburetion, while others contended that the fault lies in ignition. Twenty-five years of racing experience and automobile building gave Joe Jagersberger the idea that other channels must be sought in order to overcome these difficulties, and such thoughts resulted in his building a valve-in-head attachment for the Ford car.

Made Powerful

This culminating achievement of his years of experimenting has not only created a cylinder head for the Ford which, when attached, makes it the most powerful car in the world for its weight, but gives it wonderful flexibility that enables the driver to accelerate his car from five to forty miles per hour within the length of a city block.

Aside from its heightened power and resultant quick pick-up, the Rajo is declared to increase gasoline mileage considerably. Double capacity intake valves, placed in the center of combustion chambers, assure free, unrestricted flow of fresh gas into the cylinders. This design is largely responsible for the marvelous performance of the new Rajo head. Quicker and easier starting is assured by means of a hot spot that circulates hot air from the exhaust manifold through a jacket around the lower end of the intake pipe, assuring thorough vaporization of gasoline and preventing condensation.

The spark plugs are located on the opposite side of the head from the valves, making them more accessible and out of the path of the carbon-laden exhaust gases.

Makes Comfort

The Rajo head salesman of the local branch of the Western Auto Supply Company, commenting on the new Rajo head as compared with the ordinary type Ford head, says:

"The new Rajo head converts a Ford car into the most powerful and efficient car in the world for its weight. It puts any Ford in the same class as Noel Bullock's Rajo equipped Ford that won the world's hill climb championship on Labor Day, 1922, by zooming to the top of Pike's Peak in 19 minutes, 50 and 4-5 seconds. This new head weighs but fifteen pounds more than the stock Ford head, and is about 30 degrees cooler running, as the cooling system gives complete water circulation around each overhead valve. With this Ford thusly equipped the owner can experience the joy of shooting up the steepest hills in high gear without pounding or heating; of pulling through deep sand or mud with ease; of passing bigger, far more expensive cars on the open road; of having at his command all the power that he will ever need, and having under control a wonderful flexibility that will enable him to accelerate from twenty to forty miles an hour within the distance of a city block."

The new Rajo head is now on display at the Western Auto Supply Company's salesrooms this week.

BURBANK NARROWLY AVERT GREAT OIL FIRE

Hundreds of Gallons in Danger of Explosion at Filling Station

A gasoline explosion that might easily have paralleled the Downey disaster was narrowly averted when an oil truck in the vicinity of San Fernando boulevard and Verdugo avenue was filling the tank at the station there, a day or so ago, and some of the explosive fluid chanced to trickle onto the ground and contact with an ignited match some careless pedestrian had tossed into the gutter.

In an instant the flame had caught and followed the stream to the tank, where it commenced to hiss and crackle under the very wheels of the truck, in such a manner as to make instant disaster certain.

Fortunately, according to reports of onlookers, some few brave and quick-witted persons dashed to the scene with fire extinguishers, led by Mr. Kendall of the station across the street, and while others sought safety, risked their lives to quell the flames.

Meanwhile the fire alarm had sounded and the apparatus came dashing to the scene. A small automobile, not careful enough in giving a right-of-way, was struck by a glancing blow by the fire-truck and its runningboard on the left side torn off.

The only damage done by the flames was to somewhat scorch the paint on the gasoline wagon—but had the hundreds of gallons of explosive liquid within become ignited a far different story would have been told.

Armory Near Completion

The finishing touches are being put on the Santa Anita avenue Armory, reports Contractor Jim McDowell, who states that his crew of workmen are busily engaged in getting the building ready for Captain Tillson and his boys of Company 1.

Consequently the boys are preparing to move in, which they will probably do either today or Monday. A formal dedication of the new building will not be made, however, reports Captain Tillson, until they have gotten their new quarters in shape. And, moreover, they want to have with them for this ceremony M. Spazier, who has been such a good friend to them in helping secure the building they are about to occupy.

Captain Tillson says that a number of local men have contributed $50 each to a fund for fitting out the Armory, those to date who have made such donations being Messrs. M. Spazier, Ralph Church, Charles Anderson, J. H. Jevne, John Morris and Ben Marks. Each of these contributors has been made an honorary member of the company and all are granted the privileges of active members, in use of the club rooms and the building in general.

The company is allowed twenty honorary members, Captain Tillson says, and he hopes to run the above list of six up to the prescribed number as soon as possible and would like to hear from anyone wishing to contribute $50 to this cause.

Advice On Park

Burbank has been advised by its city attorney, Mr. Godward, that the proposed park site cannot be purchased with the present sum of $9000, and that more money will have to be raised or some other plan worked out.

A plan has been proposed to overcome this obstacle, namely, that the park site be purchased by private individuals, who will place it in the hands of a board of trustees, who will in turn lease it to the city, with the understanding that when a certain sum has been paid in, the property will be deeded over to the city.

If it develops that there is any portion of the proposed park site that can be obtained in no other way than through condemnation proceedings, it is understood, then the city will carry on such proceedings, having ample means in the park fund for such needs. This part of the site would immediately become the property of the city, Mr. Godward indicated.

The matter has been referred to the park committee, to see if this or some other plan can be worked out so that Burbank will eventually be able to acquire this park site.

A number of protests against improvement of Grismer avenue have withdrawn their names, it developed at the last meeting of the Board of Trustees, as a result of which it appears that this work will now go forward. A feature of the proceedings was that Mayor Crawford admonished the people to be more careful in future to be in possession of the facts before seeking to oppose improvements that are for the public good and have the sanction of the majority of property owners concerned.

An appeal for the widening and otherwise improving of Fourth street was made by Messrs. Reese and Coryell, who pointed out that at one time property owners along this street had deeded to the city the necessary ground for the improvements. The street committee was authorized to work with the property owners with a view to carrying out the proposed plans.

The above discussion included the proposed extension of the Pacific Electric line beyond the present Cypress street terminus, to the china factory, and the railway committee was authorized to approach the P. E. officials in regard to the matter.

NASH OUTPUT TO INCREASE IN 1923

Last Year's Figures Will Be Surpassed by 20,000 Autos

Twenty thousand more Nash cars for 1923 than were produced last year!

That is what is going to happen in the two great Nash plants in Kenosha, Wis., and Milwaukee, according to information just received by E. B. Sutton, of the Nash agency on South Maryland.

Here is the dope, statistically speaking:

An average of 5500 cars per month is to be manufactured for most of 1923, though there will be one or two arbitrary months.

The projected 60,000 represents a big increase over 1922 with its 40,000 cars. The ratio of four to sixes will be about four sixes to every three fours. Production for this month will be about twice as much as for April 1922.

"The factory just now, with a shortage of cars most imminent and with the east and middle west taking all the cars that can be obtained, is not shipping cars now unless given assurance that they are to be placed directly in the owners' hands," Mr. Sutton said.

PLAN BANQUET OF FATHER AND SON

Big Annual Event to Be Held Tuesday, May 1, at Central Christian

"Dads, uncles and brothers, attention! Boys of Glendale, 'Give us the 'once over'—for here's where we shine. It's the big annual Y. M. C. A. 'Father and Son' banquet, to be held Tuesday night, May 1, at 6:30 o'clock, in the social hall of the First Christian church, and we want you to see that every one of us boys in Glendale gets to go."

"Dads with anywhere from two to eleven sons divide up this time, their squad of coming presidents with the man whose boys are all girls—for this affair is 'boys only'."

"Men who have no boys of their own will throw out their chests with that proud 'fatherly feeling' for once in their lives, as their borrowed boys sit beside them as their guests."

"Of course the local boys will put on the big part of the program, but besides them, Chong Kong, a high school boy from Honolulu will play on his steel guitar; Merle Waterman, of Long Beach, will make the piano talk; and Sam Sutherland, of Pasadena, will make us sing. Then, to put the real finish on the occasion, Dr. George P. Taubman, Long Beach teacher of the largest Bible class for men in the world, will make an address."

Must Bring Boy

"One of the rules is that each man is supposed to bring a boy as his guest. The Y. M. C. A. office (102-A East Broadway, phones 1153W and 2514J), and the H. Y. have taken upon themselves the responsibility to secure a boy for every man who is boyless. Get your order in early, as supply of assorted sizes, red-headed ones, etc., will soon run out."

"In order that the women may know for how many to prepare, please get your tickets now. Don't wait until the night of the banquet. You may purchase tickets from any member of the Y. M. C. A. committee or phone the Y. M. C. A. office, and there will also be men at the churches who will have them for sale. The price is so nominal that every man of you can treat several of us boys to eats."

TEST SMOKING LAW

PASADENA, Cal., April 21.—That a test of Pasadena's antique city ordinance prohibiting smoking on street cars in the city limits may be made in the courts, loomed today as preparations were made for the appearance in court of twenty men, arrested and charged with violating the ordinance.

It was reported that at least one of the men arrested is contemplating fighting the charge against him when he appears in court. The court defendants were arrested in an unexpected drive on alleged violators of the "no smoking ordinance" which had not been enforced rigidly for many years.

GIVE SHORT WEIGHT

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Acting on the complaints of citizens of the city and county, County Sealer of Weights and Measures Charles M. Fuller today opened war on fruit dealers who short-weight their customers on strawberries. As a result, four Japanese faced the police court today and were fined from $25 to $50.

Many other complaints have been received, Fuller said, and those cases of the dealers who persist in short-weighting the public, and who have already been arrested, are scheduled to come up this week. Strawberries must be packed twelve ounces net weight, Fuller said.

What Does "Banking Service" Mean to You

IN selecting a bank, one man seeks only convenience and safety for what he has. The savings account which protects and pay interest on his surplus funds, the checking account for efficient payment of his bills, safe deposit facilities to safeguard his other valuables—these things only he asks of his bank.

Another chooses a bank because its officers have vision to understand his problems, the desire to lend every legitimate assistance to his business advancement and the ability to render those broad, constructive services which make a bank more than a financial storehouse—a vital factor in community progress and prosperity.

Whatever your banking requirements you will find this institution thoroughly equipped to care for them.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

Ola Hanssen knows that among the happiest hours of her life were those of the study which she had in her kitchen and living room as well. She used to love to watch Nils Hanssen, her father, work with the modeling clay or brush and, sometimes, she was flattered and pleased with the feeling that she was of help when he asked her to pose.

When Nils took his statue of "Innocence" to the exhibition, Ola shared in the anxiety and suspense. When he returned, flushed with victory, to announce the work would be shown, she rejoiced as much as did he.

"To think," said Ola, "I helped—for I did help, didn't I, Dad?"

No one else knew that Ola had been the model for the statue which attracted so much attention at the exhibit, for Nils did not care to admit he had brought home money to pay for a professional model, and Ola, looking at her resemblance in stone, felt strangely embarrassed.

The sale of the statue, he flattered comments of the critics, and the prize of the Academy were too much for old Nils. He spent a month of ideal happiness, planned many greater accomplishments, then fell ill and died. Ola counted what was left of the prize money and that which came for the statue and knew she just got out to work.

What was there for the daughter of an artist to do? Ola knew she could cook and sew, that she could talk art, and liked good literature. She would pose for no one else. After checking up her accomplishments she decided she would take a place as a housemaid or cook, and study stenography at night.

Fordham Young, bachelor and a poet, was the man who purchased the statue which had been the triumph of Nils Hanssen. He had it sent to his apartment, where it occupied a prominent place. One day, he happened to see a girl, who he thought was the statue, in the place of honor in his study.

"Don't you see," said the poet, joking, "I have idealized women so much in verse and in my dreams that I can never find one to measure up with the many requirements I have seemed to collect. Since I may never find love with a real woman, I will become acquainted with this one who comes nearest to the one I have envisioned. Besides, she will not talk or play the piano when I am trying to write verse. She is beautiful, silent and, perhaps, appreciative. What more could one ask?"

Fordham Young learned to realize that the words he had spoken in jest were more than half true. As he wrote his verses he looked up at the graceful figure of the girl of stone. What he wrote and what he thought and tried to write became associated with the statue. One, when

MODELS FAVORED FOR SILKS

The vogue today is silk, both plain and printed. Yet the frocks featured for this fabric lend themselves to development in other materials with quite as much charm. The first frock pictured is lovely in china blue flat crepe, the closing is on the left side and the blouse is dart-fitted under the arms. The gathered side panels on the skirt are trimmed with straight bands of self-material and this trimming is repeated on the flowing sleeves.

One of the sports silk is beyond doubt the logical suggestion for the next dress, which is slashed and closed at the center-front, with a collar of self-material surmounting the neck. The skirt is cut out back and front, but extends above the belt at the sides, lending to the blouse a panel effect. Narrow wristbands finish the sleeves. Medium size requires 4 yards 36-inch material.

First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 1483. Sizes 34 to 44 inches bust, and 16 to 20 years. Price 35 cents.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor: I am 17 years old and weigh 153 pounds. I am five feet five inches tall. Isn't that dreadful? Please tell me what to do. I eat dinner in town, mostly chili sandwiches and pie. I have tried to reduce by being on a diet, but it does not work. Now, please don't write me a diet of a lot of calories or big words. I am willing to do what you say. Please write me at once."

Dear girl, it is impossible for me to answer letters personally. I am sorry. The reason you did not get results before on your diet was because you did not know about calories and some other "big words." So if you want to get results now that's the first thing you must study.

A calorie is simply the unit of measure of the energy value of foods and it is also the unit of heat measurement. Just as the quart is one of the units of measuring liquids, there are so many foods that are just 100 C's, it is not difficult at all to learn a list of them.

An adult needs from fifteen to twenty C's per pound of normal weight per day. The number needed depends mostly upon the age, size and activities of the person. Stating it in round numbers, the average adult needs about 2,200 C's a day.

You can have our instructions on reducing by sending the s. a. s. e. and four cents in stamps to me in care of this paper. But I warn you that you have got to learn about calories. A knowledge of calories is our long suit and it wins the hand. However, it is not difficult, so don't worry. Your lunch is not suitable for a growing girl. Too much chili and pie. Take a custard or a glass of milk instead of the pie.

Mrs. L.—Yes, the constant use of large enemas is considered harmful. One reason that is given is that they wash away the normal amount of mucus. Another is that they distend the colon too much. We have an article on constipation which you can have by sending the s. a. s. e. and repeating your request.

Mrs. P.—Probably the reason you had not received the reducing pamphlet was because you didn't allow enough time for it to reach you, or didn't follow the rules in sending for it. Did you forget the four cents in stamps? Or did you enclose a blank envelope and the stamps. That won't do—you must address the envelope to yourself or we cannot promise to send the pamphlet. You see, it takes much time to address several hundred envelopes each day.

As you are about seventy-five pounds overweight, you certainly do need help, don't you? It is not true that there is any danger in small pieces; add powdered sugar to taste, a few drops of lemon juice, two tablespoons of chopped mint leaves and some chopped ice. Serve immediately.

Grapefruit Cocktail—Mix together shredded pineapples, bananas cut in slices and the slices cut in quarters, strawberries cut in halves—enough to make two cups of the mixture, in all. To one cup of grapefruit juice add one-half cup of water, three tablespoons of apricot juice, one-half cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Pour this over the fruit mixture. Chill. Serve in cocktail glasses and garnish with candied cherries (and rose petals if for a guest dinner).

Raisin Cocktail—Cover one-half cup of raisins with one-fourth cup of orange juice and let stand one hour. Add one cup of thick strained and sweetened cranberries or one cup of stewed and strained rhubarb, and one cup of cold water. Mix well and serve cold.

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

A COSMETIC BOOK

An obliging German chemist wrote a book some years ago in which he gave away most of the secrets of the cosmetic and perfume trade. As a matter of fact, the book was written for the general public. I managed to obtain a copy of this not long ago, and have greatly enjoyed reading it. Perhaps my own readers will be amused by some of the "secrets" he gives away.

Eau de Cologne, he says, can be produced cheaply by adding one gram neroli oil to 100 grams of alcohol. This gives a superior product which improves with age, and which would be profitable to any chemist. English and Americans, he says, prefer strong perfumes, so for these markets the usual flower perfumes are strengthened by adding musk, storax and such things. The French, it appears, prefer a more delicate odor—the flowers only.

Starch is used for many toilet purposes, either alone or combined with perfume or coloring. All such things are blanch vegetal. Poudre du Serail, Poudre de Riz, and so on, all mean the same thing, he says, that is well washed potato starch powder. Even rice powder, he says, is nothing but this. Perfumed powder for the complexion is made most easily by mixing potato starch with powdered violet root or any such powdered perfume. Flecia color face powder is potato starch well mixed with a small amount of pure carmine in powder form. Brunette complexion powder is colored with burnt amber.

He then goes on and gives formulas for fancy powders containing zinc oxide and combinations of perfumed oils. He also gives a formula for a liquid powder which seems to be bismuth nitrate and perfumed water, adding the caution that if left on the skin too long it turns yellow.

Dot P.—Astringent treatment for the skin is preferable in removing fine lines rather than resorting to facial massage. Unless you know just how to massage the facial muscles, you should never undertake it, as there may be more harm than benefit. You should not have any objection to using a good cream on the skin, especially for one that has a tendency to be kept soft and even, though it does not require extra nourishing. Almond oil will be a good substitute if you do not care for cream. The mixture of rose water and glycerine is of little value for the complexion, but it can be used on the hands.

R. M.—An astringent would not reduce the size of your nose. Reader—I shall be glad to mail the formula for the hair tonic if you send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

TOYS FOR OLD FOLKS

"He who would pass his declining years with honor and comfort should, when young, consider that he may one day become old, and remember when he is old that he has once been young."—Addison.

Are you saving up for old age? No, I don't mean money. Of course (?) you are doing that.

But are you storing up in your mind and character the interests and hobbies and character traits that are going to make old age a serene and happy time of life instead of a sad and empty and resentful period?

Someone has said: "Old age is a tyrant which forbids the pleasures of youth on pain of death."

I don't wholly agree with that. I think we can still partake in reasonable degree of some of the pleasures of youth. I know a man who started to ski after he was fifty.

It is vitally important for children who are reducing to get their needed protein for growth and repair. As milk contains the best protein for growth, as well as vitamins and essential salts, see that he has a quart of milk a day. Milk is 640 C's a quart. Skim milk or buttermilk 320 C's—just half. The skim milk or buttermilk will have greater proportion of the protein to the quart than will whole milk, but it will not have all the vitamins. In case he takes this, then let him have some butter, at least one pat a day. One level tablespoonful of butter is 100 C's.

Have him have a green salad and some cooked greens twice a day. Wholewheat bread, eggs, and fruit also should be included.

Excess candy and bread and butter, isn't he? Most children who are overweight get that weight because of this habit. Seize the pun, but it's true.

Mrs. P.—Yes, indeed, diet has a great deal to do with the texture of one's skin. Excess fats and sugars and excess salt show quickly in skin eruptions. Too much meat and other protein foods, too little greens and fruits, all are apt to leave evidence in some manner in the skin.

What Is Your Future?

What will it be ten years from now? Twenty? Will you have attained your goal or will you have dropped by the wayside?

These are interesting questions and not easy to answer.

But one thing is certain: Your decision today to start saving and to make it a habit will do more than any other one thing to put you on the road to success. Start now, stick to it and the future will be clear and pleasant.

TODAY—William G. Cayce, Los Angeles, writes his impressions of a trip to the Hebrew Home for the Aged.
MONDAY—New Yorkers are preparing for their semi-annual moving day—one on May 1 and the other on October 1.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE,
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Fifty-four salvaged souls. They are the paradoxical octogenarians who make up the Hebrew Home of the Aged in Los Angeles who cling stubbornly to this life, though their every act and thought is about the life that is to come. A visit to the institution with its bungalow dormitories, shaded by a deep grove of trees from passersby on South Boyle street, and to see its residents with their days dedicated to piety and the eating of six meals a day, if they want them, leaves one with a gripping "something."

Like patriarchs, bearded as Father Abraham, they bend over the ponderous tomes of the Talmud, tracing with tremulous fingers the sayings of the ancient prophets and arguing, in high-pitched and heated tones, over their meaning.

It is all in a day to them, those withered grandfathers, their backs bent with the scourge of rheumatism, as they bend even more to prostrate themselves in solemn prayer before gleaming brass candelabra.

The Hebrew Home is a haven of orthodoxy. It is a refuge for members of the old generation who find themselves separated from their own, a sanctuary where Kosher customs, set down in the laws of Moses, flourish "unreformed."

Out of the kitchen come Kosher dishes from which meat and milk are served and kept in separate cupboards. The pious orthodox will drink no milk or eat butter with meat, and will touch no milk for six hours after eating meat.

The age-old custom of washing the hands and offering prayer follows every meal. At sundown Friday, the kedish, or wine prayer, in praise of Jehovah for having made the world in six days, ushers in the Sabbath, when there is no cooking, but much feasting on food previously prepared.

USE OVEN, SAVE GAS, SAYS EXPERT

Hints to Housewife Upon Better Cooking Methods Prove of Interest

Being stingy with the gas and keeping it turned off as much as possible does not mean real fuel economy. Such a procedure keeps the whole gas equipment of the home from functioning, and is extravagance of the rankest sort.

Real fuel thrift means that every bit of gas used, be it much or little, must accomplish the greatest possible amount of work, says an expert on the subject.

Take, for example, the gas-heated oven of the kitchen range. It takes considerable forethought and planning to make the oven work to capacity every time it is heated, but it pays many times over.

When the principal dinner dish is to be oven-cooked, possibly a roast meat or some similar substantial, every other cooked food to be served at the meal can be cooked in the oven, with the same gas. And an added advantage is that the foods will require less watching. Foods which ordinarily are cooked on the top burners, even plain boiled potatoes, will be cooked to perfection in the oven. For plain boiling or stewing in the oven, use less liquid than when cooking on the top of the stove and always have the pan or baking dish closely covered. The foods really steam, and this method of cooking, while it is slower than actual boiling, is excellent for developing flavors and preventing waste. As long as the food is steaming, it will not absorb flavors from other foods cooking at the same time in the oven, nor will it absorb water, thus becoming soggy.

Relief to Housewife
Not only does it save gas to cook the whole meal in the oven, but it is a decided relief to the housewife to be able to finish the meal preparation early in the afternoon, and know that it will cook steadily and evenly until serving time.

Any food cooking on the top of the stove needs at least occasional watching, else it will boil dry or stick to the pan, but covered dishes in the slow oven heat less little by evaporation.

The warm cereals which are so essential a part of the children's breakfast, and often of the grown-ups, are one of the cooking problems in most households. They must be well cooked to be digestible, and this must be accomplished without expending too much of the cook's time, and with a minimum of fuel. Instead of the usual long steaming over the top burner of the range, they may be steamed in the oven. To start the cooking quickly and to make the mixture smooth and free from

The six day meals begin almost at dawn, when cups of warm milk are sent to the rooms of those who need to be thus sustained before breakfast prayers in the synagogue.

In burning candles for the dead and praying for the sick the residents are useful both in performing good works and increasing the revenue of the institution. "Also," the comely little secretary explains, "we can furnish to men, to order, at any time to assist at funerals."

For these more efficiently accomplished in these rites a completed and dedicated on the grounds. Also a new two-story 5-room dormitory will be completed to replace and augment the scattered bungalows that make up the dormitories. Among the 31 women and 23 men who will reside in the new building there is much impatience. They are Russian, Pole, Rumanian, Hungarian and German—now crowded three in a room with little regard for political self-determination.

The home given over to the use of the transients also will be relieved by the new building. It is not generally known, but the Hebrew Home is the only place in Los Angeles where food and lodging are given free to men and women of all races and creed for three days, or until they can get employment.

Though there is a rule that no one under sixty years of age shall be received, other sorrows besides those of age and infirmity have been healed at the home. For two years the wife of a Los Angeles rabbi, who deserted home and creed in a somewhat sensational elopement, has been cared for here, though she had many years to go to meet the required age.

A crippled man, profoundly orthodox, whose son had married a gentile, and an actress at that, has successfully pleaded to be allowed to stay, though he is considerably "under age."

Others have made substantial requests to the institution to be allowed the privilege of sharing the religious life which they could not perhaps find elsewhere. Still, they desire to prolong their days of life as did Methuselah.

lumps, the cereal should be boiled briskly on a top burner for ten minutes, with almost constant stirring. Then, closely covered, it may be tucked in a corner of the oven, there to remain while a pie is being baked or the meat roasted. The temperature of the oven is not important, for, with a tight cover and plenty of water, even a very hot oven will do no harm. At breakfast time a quick reheating suffices.

This Woman Knows How To Pitch Horseshoes

Mrs. Clarence A. Lanham, of Bloomington, Illinois, claims to be the woman's champion horseshoe pitcher. She received her instruction from her husband, himself an expert. Mrs. Lanham has a record of thirty-five ringers, with a two and a half pound shoe, the heaviest allowed. She disdains the regulation thirty-foot pitch, throwing from the forty-foot mark that is used by men in tournaments. She recently defeated the man champion of Nebraska, taking four of seven games.

SCIENCE and INVENTION By Arthur Budd

INSECTS THAT ARE VAMPIRES

The insect commonly known as the "electric light bug" was not known in our cities until the coming of the electric light. Entomologists supposed it to be a rather rare species. But in the summer time it is often seen in swarms about such lights.

It is a giant fly, and in its larval stage is a horrid looking "worm" five inches long (known familiarly as a "helgrammite"), which crawls about on the bottom of muddy ponds. Small boys know it well.

After undergoing its wonderful transformation, it is provided with powerful wings and a long piercing beak which consists of four sharp lancets held in a sheath. Flying only at night, it dives into ponds and attacks small fishes, sucking their blood. It is an insect vampire.

Frogs are often attacked by this monster fly and killed. Its forelegs are modified for grasping, so that it is able to hold on to its victim, no matter how vigorously the latter struggles. Driving its beak into the flesh, it drains the unfortunate frog or fish of the vital fluid.

Fish-culturists dread the vampire fly, against which, because the insect flies at night, it is difficult to provide any effective safeguard. A while ago, at one of the southern stations of the U. S. fisheries bureau, there was a large and constant mortality among young brook trout. Only after much watching and patient investigation was it traced to the "electric light bugs," which came in the dark hours and murdered the little fishes.

There is another insect, a tiny diving beetle, which comes in swarms at night and alights on ponds. One will grab a little fish

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY FOOLS THE FOX
Once upon a time Uncle Wiggily said to Nurse Jane:

"Wouldn't you like to come adventuring with me today? The weather is lovely, the sun is shining, the birds are singing and it is one of the most jolly times of the year. Come along, Nurse Jane!" And Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose most teasingly.

"Oh, I don't know," spoke the muskrat lady housekeeper musingly. "I ought to stay in and dust the dishes, or at least wash the piano."

"Nonsense!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Come! Adventuring we will go!" and he caught Nurse Jane by the paw and gently pulled her.

"Well, I suppose I can go with you for a little while," she said with a smile. "It is pleasant out," she went on, as they strolled across the fields and toward the woods.

Suddenly Uncle Wiggily stopped and turned to go back to the hollow stump bungalow.

"What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane. "Aren't you coming after you have asked me?"

"I'm just going back for my umbrella," answered the rabbit gentleman. "This is April, you know, and it may shower any minute."

"Oh, don't carry that ridiculous umbrella!" begged Nurse Jane. "It is so silly to dangle along an umbrella when the sun is shining! It makes you look like an old farmer!"

"Well, farmers are good chaps," chuckled the rabbit uncle. "And the sun will not always shine. I'll go back for the umbrella, Janie, my dear. It will not take me long, and if it should rain, you would blame me for not having it."

Back Uncle Wiggily hopped to the bungalow, and soon he came hopping along again, with the umbrella dangling from one paw, where it swung by the curved handle.

"Now for adventures!" cried the bunny rabbit, who was in a gay and frolicsome mood. "Ho, for adventures!"

Nurse Jane looked around behind her, past the corner of a big rock, and then the muskrat lady said:

"I think, Uncle Wiggily, you are going to have an adventure sooner than you expected."

"Why so?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Because the Fuzzy Fox is running along after us," said Nurse Jane.

"Ah, is he?" asked the bunny. "Then we must run, also. Hop along, Janie!"

The bunny rabbit and the muskrat lady ran along side by side. Uncle Wiggily looked back and saw the Fox coming, and the fuzzy chap's red tongue hung out of his mouth. His sharp white teeth showed and he looked very hungry; very hungry, indeed, for ears looked the Fox.

"Do you think—do you think we can get away from him?" panted nurse Jane. "How about it, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I think so—yes," answered the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose. "If we can't run away fast enough, I'll fool the Fox."

"How can you fool him?" asked Nurse Jane.

"With my umbrella," answered the rabbit uncle. With that he opened his umbrella and held it over his head, but upside down.

"Why in the world are you doing that silly thing?" asked the muskrat lady. "Holding your umbrella over your head, upside down, will not fool the fox. He's coming after us faster than ever."

"Just wait a minute," begged Uncle Wiggily. He held his umbrella upside down over his head, as though the umbrella were filled with something he didn't want to spill. Then, coming to a tree with an overhanging branch, Uncle Wiggily suddenly jumped up and hung the upside-down umbrella, by the curved crook handle, to the limb of the tree. "Now let's see you get what's in my umbrella!" cried Uncle Wiggily to the Fox, and then the bunny gentleman and Nurse Jane ran on.

As for the Fox, he stopped under the tree where the upside-down umbrella was hanging by its handle.

"There must be something good in that umbrella, or else Uncle Wiggily would not have been so anxious to hang it where I couldn't get it!" barked the Fox. "But I'll bring it down!" However, he couldn't do that. Leap

'Now for adventures!' cried the bunny rabbit.

ARRANGE DETAILS OF LODGE MEET

I. O. O. F. Celebration on Next Saturday Will Start With Big Parade

Details for the 104th anniversary I. O. O. F. celebration next Saturday in Glendale Verdugo park have now been worked out, announces Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, president of the local Rebekah lodge, to whom has been given the high honor of executive committee president, in charge of arrangements for the entire affair, which in scope includes all Odd Fellows and Rebekah activities in Los Angeles county.

The grand parade will start at 11 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Schwitters announces, led by a motorcycle escort, followed by W. J. Royle, grand master of the day, and Dr. H. C. Smith, deputy grand master. Then will come the cantons in full dress, and after them the members of the executive committee, as follows: Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, president; Charles Connor, vice-president; Mrs. May Reynolds, secretary and Hugh Garrison, treasurer.

These will be followed by the chairmen of the various committees—R. Rasmussen, W. H. Hunt, A. C. Anderson, Carl Wilde, D. A. Hall, H. W. Hollenbeck, Hester, and Carl W. Schwitters, chairman of concessions.

Mrs. Schwitters reports that at the last meeting of Carnation Rebekah lodge, held Tuesday night in the Odd Fellows' hall, eighteen members were taken in, eleven by initiation and seven by transfer.

Cabinet Debates Plans To Halt Rum Flood

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The force of the administration will be called into play to suppress rum running off American coasts, it was declared officially at the White House yesterday.

Nearly all of the cabinet meeting was devoted to devising ways and means of halting liquor smuggling into this country. It was said that a definite policy of combating liquor runners would be announced shortly.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Democratic senators who want the next Democratic national convention to declare in favor of liberalization of the Volstead act are urging Woodrow Wilson to come out in favor of light wine and beer, it has been learned.

There have been no indications thus far of the former president's attitude toward this proposal, although some Democratic leaders predict that Mr. Wilson will ask the convention in 1924 to adopt a plank urging the repeal of the prohibition act.

SPEED WAGON

The experience of nineteen successful years is embodied in the Mighty Speed Wagon as it stands today.

With a variable capacity up to 2500 pounds, it is delivering the goods quicker and cheaper in nearly 300 lines of business, and is fitted to ninety-five per cent of all commercial carrying.

Equipped with the famous Reo engine, super-powerful; the Reo clutch with its thirteen friction facings; the Reo transmission with its large, silently operating gears; rugged rear axle, spiral beveled.

Major power units are cradled in an inner-frame suspended within the main frame, thus minimizing road shocks and insuring softer driving action.

Twelve standard body styles render the Speed Wagon adaptable to practically every line of business.

The Mighty Speed Wagon is Designed and Manufactured in the Big Reo Shops—Not Assembled!

HUGE AREAS ARE SWEEP BY FIRES

Forests Ablaze in Michigan And Pennsylvania Are Menace to Homes

PULLMAN, Mich., April 21.—The most serious forest fire in many years has swept through the scrub oak and second growth of Allegan county, north of here, and now threatens Bravo, with a population of 2600.

Several small homes already have been destroyed and families in the burned area have had to scurry for shelter. The fire is said to be following in many places the right of way of the Pere Marquette railroad. It is not known what damage may have been done to the road.

Flee From Homes

PULLMAN, Mich., April 21.—The flames which started Tuesday a short distance from here, have devastated an area a mile or more in width and are now at outskirts of Bravo, which is eight miles north of Pullman. The residents are preparing to evacuate, it was reported from there early today.

The territory, old white pine country, now covered with second growth and scrub oak, is sparsely settled.

The futility of attempting to fight the flames has been admitted and the only hope for Bravo lies, it is said, in a possible change in the wind.

The sheriff's office at Allegan said today that so far as is known, no residents of the district have been injured. It was believed at Allegan that the comparatively small width of the area being burned will permit of easy escape to either side of the flame path.

Timberlands Burn

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—Great forest fires are sweeping over this part of the state, doing big damage to timberland. Rains for the last ten days have been very light and accumulations of dried leaves make the forests a vast tinder box. State wardens are fighting the flames as soon as they appear but a new fire follows immediately one is extinguished.

C. OF C. PLAN FOR PUBLICITY WORK

Committees to Investigate Methods for Raising Advertising Fund

The conference that was held last night between the directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and a committee from the Glendale Realty Board relative to the project of advertising Glendale more widely than has been done in the past resulted in the appointment of a special committee from the Chamber of Commerce, composed of E. C. Penney, George Bentley and A. R. Eastman, that will co-operate with the organization's advertising committee and with the Realty Board committee in working out a plan for raising a budget to be devoted to this purpose and in the selection of a publicity expert who will have complete charge of the work and who will be responsible to the advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The plan that was submitted for the formation of an advertising club met with opposition from the majority of the directors at the meeting as it was felt that such an organization would result in duplication of effort and would entail expenses that might be eliminated if the advertising department were to be handled through the Chamber of Commerce.

Charles Bayer, of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will meet with the directors of the Glendale organization on the night of May 4, to discuss plans for staging a campaign to increase the membership of the Chamber of Commerce and to raise funds for its operation.

Members of Exchange Club Are L. A. Guests

The Los Angeles Exchange Club, which met yesterday noon in the Paulina banquet room at 739 South Broadway, Los Angeles, had as its guests a delegation from the Glendale Exchange Club. Capt. D. Ripley Jackson, president of the local club, was called upon for a speech.

"Glendale is the city where there was some agitation a short time ago because Los Angeles wanted to annex," he stated. "We have enough to do now to take care of our own affairs but possibly we may consider the subject again later."

E. B. Sutton of 112 South Maryland avenue, member of the board of directors, made a short talk in which he urged the formation of Exchange Clubs in all suburbs of Los Angeles.

Other members of the local club, who attended the luncheon were Fred E. Hoyt, W. C. Waring, R. E. Johnston, W. H. Block, E. J. Smith, and Capt. W. B. Kelly.

DISCUSS WAGES

CHICAGO, April 21.—Chairmen of several western and northwestern divisions of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers and Station Employees were assembled at the Northwestern hotel here today, threshing out details of plans for a slight increase in wages.

Pupils Are Proud of This Youth's Record

was reared there and I feel that I can do more good there than I can here.

Fred Peck is living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Peck of 114 South Louise street. His father, F. T. Peck, is now in Shreveport, La., while his mother is living in Honduras.

"Pan-Americanism—Its Obstacle" was the subject of Fred Peck's oration yesterday in the local oratorical contest.

Aboard Special

"Out from the mountain ranges sounds the whistle of a special train!" he exclaimed. "It comes loaded with broad-minded and unselfish men whose mission is an important one. The place of their destination must be reached without delay. Yet, an obstacle stands in the way. A huge rock has fallen on the railroad track."

"The broad-minded and unselfish group of men in the train are the Pan-Americanists whose mission is to promote real friendly relations between the United States and Latin-America. The rock on the track represents the mercenary policy of selfish imperialism is today the greatest obstacle to a real Pan-American friendship."

"One hundred and forty-seven years ago, when your independence was declared, we Spanish Americans admired your bravery and love for liberty. You then became our ideal; you became our model. And it was not long before we, too, found a Washington in Simon Bolivar, who, with other immortal heroes, became our liberators."

"You, then, thanks to the efforts of Henry Clay in your Congress, recognized our independence. And when you adopted the Monroe Doctrine, we accepted you as our big brother because we did not suspect any selfish motives behind your policies."

"But here a sudden change was to take place. One day we stood by your side ardent admirers of your guiding principles and striving to be like you; the next day we stood broken-hearted, fearful and suspicious. What had occurred? You were using your power against one of us, Mexico, fighting an unjust war. An unjust war it was, for the greatest of American patriots, Lincoln himself, declared it to be so."

"And ever since that time our attitude toward you has been entirely changed. We no longer consider the Monroe Doctrine a protection but a menace to our very existence."

"Why, then, North American friends, have you allowed your government to use your glorious flag to carry out policies contrary to the principles that have ruled your national life? Simply for this reason: You have not known about it."

"And Cuba is not the only home of the American capitalist; there in Mexico, Oil is her sin; to have it costs her many a revolution; to hold it costs her the non-recognition of her government by the United States. I personally know of an American oil company which was giving, not long ago, thousands of dollars to a Mexican bandit to start a revolution and overthrow the present government so that the company would not have to pay its taxes."

"Now just for a moment, friends, turn to Porto Rico. Yesterday that little island was one of our Spanish American sisters; today she is annexed to your country. Yes, annexed to you but only in 'body'—her Spanish soul is immortal. Her people will never become Americans."

"Not Adequate, Claim
"Look now at Santo Domingo. For them you substituted a government of 'goats.' In plain language this was their situation under the so-called 'protection' given by your government."

"Such interventions have not adequate grounds. Such actions are not based in the guiding principle of the United States. They are un-American."

"May it be remembered that the new world is the center of a new culture that must spread its principles from the north to the south. And may the day come when Americans, English and Spanish will have an everlasting solidarity so as to be able to lift a struggling humanity up from the valley of chaos to the pinnacles of human friendship and brotherhood."

The object lesson given by Mrs. Jeter will no doubt be remembered through life by all who saw it. She had a big crowd of children to march around the tabernacle holding up high lighted candles while the electric lights were turned off. The children and the big chorus choir were singing "Let Your Light Shine Before Men."

The Jeters go from here to Stockton for their next meeting, which begins next Sunday. They were there a little over a year ago.

Real Service Proves Builder of Business

"That real service builds up a business, is proved by the rapid growth of this enterprise," said C. H. Messenger of the Broadway Auto Super-Service Station at East Broadway and Cedar street.

A special feature is a large air and water station, where air, water and distilled water are available twenty-four hours of every day, this department never being closed.

COBB NOT HURT

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—An unfounded rumor, spread in other cities that Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, had met with a fatal accident, was promptly denied when the report reached here this morning. Cobb was reached at his room in the Buckingham hotel.

PREDICT CUT IN COST OF LIVING

Supreme Court's Decision
Paves Way to Further Food Economies

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A legislative pathway to a material reduction in the American high cost of living has been opened by the recent United States supreme court decision validating the grain futures act, it was announced today by congressional farm bloc leaders.

By slashing the middleman's profits and eliminating speculation, it was declared, enforcement of the grain futures act would ultimately bring a decline in retail prices. With this law, prohibiting grain speculation, a success, it is planned to extend the legislation to all other food products.

A series of bills, to bring the cotton, sugar and coffee exchanges under the same stringent government regulation, will be introduced in the next session of congress, the farm bloc leaders declared.

"Legislation will be sponsored in December to apply the law just held constitutional by the supreme court, to cotton, coffee and sugar exchanges," said Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, a ranking member of the farm bloc.

"It will also be made to apply to all other exchanges dealing in a speculative way with food products."

Reduce Profits
"Ultimately, I am sure the elimination of speculation will cut down the middleman's profits and consequently result in a reduction in the cost of living. This can be accomplished since the supreme court held that exchanges must recognize co-operative organizations as members."

"This part of the decision will eliminate the middleman's profits because the farmer will be enabled to sell his goods in the open market through his own organization."

Furbecks Will Build Stores on N. Brand

L. W. Furbeck is having plans drawn by May & Hellman, local contractors, for a three-story building next to the corner of Brand and Doran, on the south-east corner. It will be a very artistic building, following the old Gothic architecture, and the material used will be old gold brick, terra cotta and tile, ornamented with terra cotta images.

There will be three store rooms, the center one being occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Furbeck for their art shop and studio. Also they will carry high grade trimmed hats and other fancy articles for women's wear. The other two stores will be rented to tenants for similar shops.

The Furbecks built the second building eight years ago on Brand between Harvard and Colorado and this will be the second one in the North Brand block. Mr. Furbeck thinks that North Brand will be the home of the high-class shops of Glendale.

The Furbecks have lived in Glendale over twelve years and have been in business here about eight years. Mrs. Furbeck is known as one of the finest china artists in a commercial way in Southern California.

Jerry Jeter Meetings Close Sunday Night

Evangelistic meetings in the tabernacle on the northwest corner of Cedar street and Broadway will come to a close tomorrow night, when Jerry Jeter will speak on "The Greatest Detective Story in the World."

Mrs. Jerry Jeter will give a Bible hour at 2:30 Sunday on "Altruism."

At the 10:30 hour Mr. Jeter will speak on "Powers That Lift Men."

The "Jim and Jerry" story last night drew what is perhaps the largest crowd at a religious gathering that has been seen in Glendale since the days of the John Brown meetings.

The object lesson given by Mrs. Jeter will no doubt be remembered through life by all who saw it. She had a big crowd of children to march around the tabernacle holding up high lighted candles while the electric lights were turned off. The children and the big chorus choir were singing "Let Your Light Shine Before Men."

Watch Is Frozen In Ice, Yet Keeps Time

In reading over magazine ads you have often seen the picture of a watch frozen in a cake of ice. R. L. Cole, a local jeweler, is giving a practical demonstration of this in front of his place of business at 106 East Broadway, today, he having a large cake of ice on exhibition in which is frozen a Hamilton watch.

"This," says Mr. Cole, "will prove to the most skeptical that a high grade watch can be depended upon to keep correct time in a freezing temperature."

Culture is a fine thing, but it is going a little too far when he finds an empty pocketbook.

REVEAL ROMANCE OF BIG BUSINESS

Impending Trial to Uncover Details of Intrigue for Vast Wealth

By JOHN L. SPIVAK
For International News Service

NEW YORK, April 21.—An amazing romance of big business playing for stakes greater than the combined fortunes of Standard Oil and United States Steel, with international intrigue, plot and counter-plot, will be uncovered at the forthcoming trial of the nine men indicted for grand larceny in connection with the Kuzbas "autonomous" industrial colony in Siberia, it was revealed today by Thos. Rees of St. Louis, American representative of Kuzbas, one of the men indicted, in an exclusive interview.

In revelations of alleged conspiracies Rees and his associates claim they will make and support with documentary proof, runs a tale of ceaseless conflict between a group of Americans set upon exploiting two of the richest territories in the world and powerful British interests who are said to have tried to wrest the concessions from them.

Alleges Grand Larceny
On the other hand, Emory Weller, assistant district attorney, who is prosecuting the case, expressed surprise today at the charges made by Rees, but admitted that the enterprise was "not a crooked affair in the common sense of the word."

"They merely committed grand larceny in the course of their activities, by misrepresenting the facts," he said. "We are prosecuting solely on that basis. As for the charges for an international conspiracy, all I can say is that I know nothing about it."

The strip of land in question and for which British interests are said to be angling is greater in size than the state of New Jersey. One of the territories alone, the Nadejenski Navod, contains more coal than the Ruhr basin, according to reports made by metallurgists, excluding uncounted treasure in iron, copper, silver, gold, platinum, sulphur, etc.

Start Brick Block Construction Work

Brick laying began on Friday on the two-story brick block which George Caldwell is erecting on Glendale avenue, near Broadway. Mr. Caldwell came out from Los Angeles and laid the first brick with his own hands. There will be two store rooms on the first floor and offices and apartments on the second.

ATTEND RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Brown of 154 West Stocker street and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Schuyler of West Elk street, attended the formal reception given last Thursday at the Shakespeare club rooms in Pasadena by Mr. and Mrs. Don Petty in the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. There were about 160 couples present.

SHANGHAI, April 21.—War clouds which threaten to develop into civil war throughout China today resulted in the ordering of seven American destroyers now at Shanghai to Hankow.

The first clash of the new civil war is expected to come at Hankow, and may endanger the many American residents of that section. Destroyers will protect American interests.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen is now fighting in South China for the control of the southwest section of the country, while a clash between the two war lords of the north—Wu Pei-Fu and Chang Tso-Lin—seems pending.

Screen Star Back at Work After Wedding

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Marjorie Daw, screen luminary, and her husband, "Eddie" Sutherland, motion picture director, who were married last night at the home of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, returned to the "lot" today to complete the pictures they are now making, postponing their wedding trip until later when they are both at liberty from their screen work.

The ceremony, a quiet affair with only a handful of intimate friends present, took place in the west wing of the Fairbanks home in Beverly Hills, with the Rev. Neal Dodd officiating.

Observe Anniversary Of War With Spain

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the declaration of war with Spain is being observed this afternoon and tonight at the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle by a reunion and jollification of Spanish War veterans. The Glendale Camp will be represented by Dr. W. C. Mabry of 115 East Acacia avenue, commander; Capt. W. H. Reeves of 500 East Maple street, former commander; and Col. J. D. Fraser of 642 North Maryland avenue, chief of the Glendale police department.

The Maine was blown up in Havana harbor, February 15, 1898. Two hundred and sixty-six sailors lost their lives. Within three weeks congress had appropriated $50,000,000 for national defense. Three days later mobilization commenced. A proclamation was issued by President William B. McKinley, declaring Cuba free. Spain declared war April 20, and the United States, the following day, returned the compliment.

BIG TOURIST TRAVEL IS DUE HERE

Summer Rates on Railroad Systems Mean Influx of People to Glendale

By GIL A. COWAN
WITH summer rates becoming effective on the rail lines the latter part of this month, Southern California may well prepare for the greatest tourist influx in the history of its development.

All over the country people are talking and thinking "California." Everyone in the east harbors the thought that if they could only come to California and live, their lives would have been worth living.

For, to the majority of people of the frozen prairies and the bleak New England states, there is a desire for everlasting sunshine that native Californians can never fully appreciate.

And it is in such a sequestered suburb as Glendale, fast forging to the front in population and building, they find all that their hearts may desire. Verily, this is the land of dreams, the heaven on earth, and an inspiration for the youth.

Many Hear of City
If you were away from Glendale, as the writer happens to be, you would appreciate what high regard is held for your home city among those who know. And it is remarkable the number of people who are hearing of "the fastest growing city in America."

Perhaps it is best that too much is not said, for if people themselves learn a happy fact it impresses them more deeply. The power of persuasion lies more in an actual awakening to be had by the tourist after he arrives here than in telling him too much.

But it is well for every resident of Glendale to send copies of The Evening News to their eastern friends, to write them letters stating facts about this wonder city. Then let them pass judgment on the desirability of this haven in the hills as their homing place.

ASK BOARDS TO VALUE PROPERTY

L. A. Board Ranks Third in Appraisals Made in U. S. Cities

The Los Angeles Realty Board is third in the United States in the valuation of property appraised by committees from the organization during 1922, according to a summary just received by Tom Ingersoll, secretary of the Los Angeles board from Herbert U. Nelson, secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The Chicago Real Estate Board was first and the Cleveland Real Estate Board second, both having records in excess of the $30,000,000 mark. Los Angeles had more than $15,000,000 and New York came fourth with about $10,000,000 worth of property as the total passed upon by the appraisal committees of its real estate board, Washington, Toledo, Pittsburgh, Minneapolis, Detroit and Kansas City, Mo., followed in the order named.

The total for the United States, according to the survey reached the impressive figure of $195,511,532. Property involved in the real estate transactions of governmental agencies to the value of millions of dollars is included in the nearly thousand units of real estate upon which valuation was set during the year by these accredited appraisal committees of men expertly familiar with real estate values.

It is predicted that 1923 will see a shattering of the realty board appraisal records for large totals both locally and nationally due to the increasing tendency to utilize the organization appraisal committees in seeking valuations on parcels of real property.

AT SANTA ROSA

Vice-president John T. Summers has invited the state realtors to be the guests of the Sonoma county realty men at the Realtors and Prune Day at Santa Rosa on Saturday, May 19. This will be an all-day affair, with a picnic dinner, and many northern realtors will attend the gathering. James H. Gray, president of the Santa Rosa Realty Board is director general of this big festival.

LOOK THEM OVER

Why not drive about Glendale and vicinity Sunday and see the great development in the new subdivisions? It will astonish you.

Take Auto Trip And See Great Realty Progress

THE immense volume of real estate development that is going on at present and that is mapped out for months ahead can best be realized by a trip through the numerous subdivisions that are being placed on the market in the territory immediately surrounding the city and in the city itself. Acres upon acres of the most beautiful lands in the southland lie at Glendale's very doors, and much of it is being sold to those people who have the vision to look ahead and to invest for profit or who wish to secure a site where they may found their homes and who, at the same time, are keenly alive to the rising value of such a site within the next few years.

An automobile trip that would cover, at the outside, twenty miles, would lead to many subdivisions in the city and at the outskirts where the property is moving rapidly and where the chances for the investor and the homeseeker are unrivalled, and it is a duty that every person in Glendale owes to himself to see how fast the city is progressing and to realize the growth that is taking place daily.

HOW MUCH PAY DOES MAN NEED

Los Angeles Split on Whether $20 a Week Is Enough In That City

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service
LOS ANGELES, April 21.—Under existing living conditions a young couple justified setting up housekeeping with the bridegroom's income only $20 a week. In other words, can little Dan Cupid string his bow with such a "thong" and make a "go" of it?

How would a young couple go about it—what sacrifices would they have to make, separately and together—to assure their "love bark" could keep afloat under the sails of a $20-a-week bill?

Men and women, prominent in civic, social welfare, financial and industrial circles in Los Angeles have discussed the subject pro and con, and, while not unanimous, it seems that in most cases the opinion is that for an income on which to be married and live happily the amount is too small.

Most of those interviewed were emphatic in their opinion one way or the other. Between the extremes were some who were doubtful.

Among those who believe that a Los Angeles couple can live and be happy on $20 a week is Mrs. J. B. Stearns, past president of the Women's City club, who has taken an "important part in many civic activities."

"It can be done," she said, "but it would take a lot of practical working out of perplexing problems. The people who want to do it, I believe those who start out on that basis, in the long run, amount to more than those who are accustomed to plenty."

Some of those who expressed the belief that it can be done modified their statements by saying it all hinged on whether the couple knew how to "manage"—that is, purchase their necessities and how to discriminate between necessities and luxuries.

Without any hesitation the Security Trust & Savings Bank, through its research department, believes the husband should have a minimum income of $125 a month before he and his wife can weather the storms of the matrimonial sea. The bank submitted the following figures:

	Per-centage
Rent	43.3	$54.00
Meat	5.4	6.80
Groceries	16.0	20.00
Vegetables	5.3	6.70
Clothing, light and miscellaneous	30.0	37.50
	100.0	$125.00

Among those who said they thought it was "practically impossible" to make a "go" of married life on such a small allowance was Ethel R. Palmer, Southern California representative of the Industrial Welfare commission. Business women, she pointed to as an example, are having a difficult time living on $16 a week, and that an additional $4 a week is hardly enough to support another person. The biggest obstacle, she declared, was rent.

Judge Summerfield, who presides over the divorce court in Los Angeles, handed down the following opinion:

GOOD YEAR FOR COAST BUSINESS

Federal Reserve Reports on District Show Wave of Prosperity Growing

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service
SAN FRANCISCO, April 21.—From present indications 1923 will be a banner business year on the Pacific Coast.

Reports from the entire Federal Reserve district, which include not only California, Oregon and Washington, but also Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Idaho, for the first two months of the year indicate this.

"Activity in production and trade which characterized the first month of the year continued during the short month of February, and in some instances rose to record proportions," said John Perrin, Chairman of the Board and Federal Reserve Agent of the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank, in a recent report on business conditions in the district.

Demand Equals Supply
"Demand for the principal raw materials produced in the district (excepting agricultural products) continued equal to or in excess of the available supply, prices of these commodities tending toward higher levels," he continued. "Distribution of goods, measured by bank debits and sales at retail and wholesale, proceeded at a rate equal to that of any previous period of which this bank has record. Employment of bank credit increased moderately."

"Although the lumber mills of the district operated at or near maximum capacity during February, 1923, they were unable to satisfy the increasing volume of orders and shipments. Present mill stocks of lumber, particularly in Oregon and Washington, are reported to be small and prices tending to advance. A temporary shortage of logs, with a rapid increase in their price, occurred during the month."

Mineral Yield High
"Mineral productions in the district, particularly metals of industrial importance, is increasing rapidly. During January, the latest month for which authoritative figures are available, more copper was produced than during any month in the past two years. Large increases in the production of lead and zinc have also been reported. Another production record was established in the oil fields of California during February."

Increasing distributive activity has accompanied expanding production. Trade at retail during February, 1923, was greater in the year 1919, when this bank first began assembling sales figures. In the wholesale trade sales in all of the ten reporting lines of business were greater than in February, 1922, the amount of the increase in each of eight lines being over 15 per cent. Seasonal declines in sales during February compared with January were smaller than usual."

Coming events in the world of the real estate men in California include the following: April 21, Long Beach Real Estate Board, Henry P. Barstow, president, host to the realty boards of the forty-eight cities of Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Riverside, San Diego, San Bernardino and Imperial counties, with realty organizations; April 28, Second Annual San Joaquin Valley Realtors' picnic at Mooney Grove, midway between Tulare and Visalia; May 4, 5, 6, San Francisco Real Estate Board host to Los Angeles Realty Board at Del Monte; May 12, Sonoma County Realtors' picnic; May 26, Real Estate Day for East Bay Boards at Mount Diablo Park; June 27 to 30, National association of Real Estate Boards convention at Cleveland, and plans made for a special train to take the realtors from California to Cleveland.

Records of sales in Glendale subdivisions show that there is a great demand for lots—and that homes are being built, too.

DEMAND IS HEAVY FOR HIGHLAND BUILDING SITES

High Ridge Hills Present Picturesque Place Upon Which to Build

By J. HAROLD SCHENCK
General Manager, Flintridge Sales Company

THERE are fashions and vogues in homesites just as marked as in the realm of dress and architecture. It is particularly interesting this spring to note the popular demand for hillside, hilltop and highland building sites. Even the slightest elevation will soon be at a premium. Someone in Hollywood or Flintridge leads the way in building daringly on an eminence. The public has been quick to follow this lead.

This spring we find home-builders taking to the hills in greater numbers than ever before. There is scarcely an elevation of any consequence within reach of the city where the sound of the hammer and the buzz of the saw are not heard. It is evident now that the fast development of hillside properties is much more than a popular fad. It is a natural accompaniment of the city's growth. As the lower levels become more and more developed in the direction of the hills, the public attention is awakened to the supreme desirability of elevated sites.

Man naturally prefers to live just a bit higher than his neighbors. The increased elevation seems to bring a satisfaction in itself apart from the material advantages of drainage and outlook. The movement has been carried so far in some quarters that we now have the spectacle of homes apparently supported by foundations attached to a side wall, miraculously attached to the sheer face of a precipice.

In response to the demand for picturesque skyline homesites, we have been doing some interesting engineering work at Flintridge. The high ridge of hills that forms the south border of the Flintridge parkland comprises much of the most magnificent property in the entire region. The high development of Flintridge proper has made it necessary to open this highland property for occupancy.

For weeks construction gangs with steam shovels have been at work grading and building contoured boulevards up into this beautifully wooded tract. The development work has scarcely begun, but already we have made an unusually large number of pre-opening reservations for people who have been awaiting the opportunity to buy in this region.

PRE-CAST SLABS USED IN PAVING BIG DELEGATION FOR CONVENTION

Experiment in Road Making Attracts Attention of Visitors

An experimental pavement, which is attracting much attention and many visitors, is being constructed by the California Highway commission near Suisun, on the road leading from Suisun to Rio Vista.

The pavement is of concrete, eighteen feet wide and one and one-half miles long, and approximately one mile thereof is being constructed of pre-cast slabs, the balance being of concrete mixed at a central mixing plant and hauled to the site in trucks.

The slabs are, in general, nine by nine feet, but two short stretches are constructed of slabs six by nine feet, and three by nine feet, respectively.

Provision for lifting the slabs has been made by casting small holes therein, with cross rods on which can be hooked the dogs of the lifting chains.

The nine by nine feet slabs and the six by nine feet slabs have four holes each, in general located at approximately the quarter points, and the three by nine feet slabs have two holes each. The adjacent land is subject to overflow by the tides and the grade of the pavement itself is but slightly above the extreme high tides.

The location for this pavement ten minutes farther from town a small price to pay for the privilege of living in a region of matchless beauty.

Many California Realtors Will Attend Meeting In Cleveland

Large delegations of California realtors to the national convention will leave Los Angeles, San Diego, Oakland and San Francisco and they will arrange to converge at Ogden, where they will take a mutual train. Some of the realty boards are planning to have exhibits at Cleveland and the Lodi Realty board, whose president, John C. Bewley, attended the national conference in Jacksonville, plans to send a miniature vineyard. San Diego will have a display and Los Angeles also will again have a display and treat the east to the famed Sun-dust oranges. The Oakland delegation will have its realtors' chorus.

The California Real Estate Association through the state president, F. O. Reed, has received many requests from transcontinental railroads regarding the routing of the delegates. Realtors who are getting up the Cleveland train include W. I. Hollingsworth, national director; C. C. Tatum, O. A. Vickrey, Henry P. Barbour, Fred E. Reed, Edwin G. Hart, F. Porter, Harry B. Allen, Stephen Barnson, Everett A. White, and others equally well known in the realty world.

was picked, partly to show the action of pre-cast slabs over soil of this nature, but more particularly because it was a convenient place to try out the construction of a pre-cast slab pavement on a practical scale.

SALES OF SECOND UNIT LURE TO HOME SEEKERS

Suburban Heights Property Eagerly Sought By Investors Who Know Values Of Glendale Real Estate

A RECORD attendance at the big Suburban Heights sale of homesites was evidenced at 2:30 p. m. today, and from the onlooker's view Suburban Heights Unit No. 2 should follow in the path of No. 1, and be completely sold by tomorrow evening.

"Two blocks, part of the most desirable lots on the market, have been held over for Sunday sales in order that buyers who are unable to be on the ground today will have an equal opportunity to 'get in' on this exceptional profit-making sale," said Harold Blackmore, of the Suburban Realty Company, today, who further states that it is confidently expected that only re-sales will be available after tomorrow night. "A number of re-sales have already been made in Unit No. 1 and in some instances these transactions have shown a profit as high as 20 per cent in less than a week."

"Some of our early purchasers have already started on the plans and designs of their new homes, and a goodly number of handsome residences should very soon be under way on Unit No. 2. These will naturally give an additional re-selling value to all lots purchased today."

Install Improvements
"Everything in Suburban Heights Unit No. 2 has been arranged for the buyer's benefit in order that re-sales may be made quickly and property increase in value. All improvements are paid for by the Suburban Realty Company, owners and subdividers. Gas, light and water are being installed, street work completed, transportation by street cars is within two blocks of the property and the new bus lines will pass on both sides."

"Taking everything into consideration, Suburban Heights Unit No. 2 offers today one of the greatest profit-making opportunities ever placed before Glendale residents. The terms, a small cash payment, then nothing for two years will enable everyone with a little capital to 'get in' on the ground floor' and should be instrumental in making one and all a very nice profit in from four to six months' time. Those who retain their holdings for a longer period or build on their lots will naturally reap a still larger profit, in proportion."

PROGRESS SHOWN BY LATE REPORT

Activity Continues in Every Line of Business as Orders Flow in

Here is the latest report on domestic and foreign conditions:

Domestic Conditions—Latest figures on the business situation received by the Department of Commerce indicate a continuance of the activity previously noted, which is in general considerably in advance of the usual seasonal trend. Lumber production in March, on the basis of three weeks' reports, will make a new high record since 1920, while building contracts for March are considerably larger than in February. Orders for commodities from manufacturers continue in large volume in most lines; and unfilled orders recently reported for March 1, for such commodities as steel sheets, steel barrels, and flooring, were the largest recorded in recent years. Farm prices again increased in February, while the cost of living index remained unchanged. The crop index was the highest since December, 1920, at 30 per cent above the prewar average, but the live-stock index was only 7 per cent above prewar. Retail distribution continued at high levels, and savings deposits increased throughout the country. Wool consumption in February was the highest on record. Mineral production in February declined slightly, owing to the decreased output of bituminous coal.

Business Abroad
Foreign Conditions—The huge budget surplus of over 10,000,000 pounds is the outstanding incident of March in Great Britain, creating hope of reduced taxation in metal and textile trades. Coal output exceeds 5,700,000 tons; and no crisis in coal mining is expected for some months. In Italy the results of Premier Mussolini's reform program are becoming apparent. Progress is being made toward balancing the budget, and tax reforms are being introduced.

The crop report is reported excellent. The new tariff carries increased import duties. Japan reports an increase of 25 per cent in imports of American machinery in February, offset by heavy shipments of raw silk to the United States, giving Japan a balance for the month in her trade with this country. Gradual, though slow, improvement is reported from the Philippines. The foreign trade balance of the islands in February was in their favor by 7,000,000 pesos.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

In the past few weeks some notable attendance records for realty board banquets have been reported by the California Real Estate Association. There were nearly 300 plates at the San Diego Realty Board Annual Banquet, and more than 500 each at the annuals of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Realty Boards. At the induction of the Stockton Realty Board, there were 147 present, and at Fresno when the Home Town Cup was presented to J. C. Forkner, there were nearly 200 in attendance. Bakersfield had 130 at its annual banquet, Lodi had 102, and eighty-five attended at Merced, while at Berkeley, the realtors and their guests totalled ninety-two. The dinner given by the Santa Rosa Realty Board in honor of the state president, drew nearly seventy-five, while at Chico a joint meeting of the Chico and Willows boards was attended by fifty-three. Santa Ana's annual banquet was attended by 175 men and women, and at Long Beach over 300 were present.

ART REVIVAL IS SHOWN IN HOMES

Beauty of Color and Form Brings Inspiration to Decorators

"Tis very fine I find by all you have been telling. The house, but not a dwelling."—A Pope.

How splendid it is that we are now in the midst of a new Renaissance after groping around for a century with art influenced by invention, jig-saw ornament, fantastic L'Art Nouveau, and uninteresting mission types.

This awakening is not only reviving the real art of the past, but is so assimilating and re-creating it that beauty of color and form is coming back to us commensurate for our need and inspiration.

The successful home of today is one in which emphasis is given to individual comfort and utility as well as a thoughtfully-planned color scheme and furnishings in harmony with the architectural designs.

To bring about this utility and comfort, craftsmen have vied with each other in developing furniture, especially the overstuffed kind, that really tends toward rest and relaxation.

They have added to their revival and creation the small pieces of furniture found to be so useful, as consoles, end, tilt-top, gateleg, banister and telephone tables, stands and cabinets for magazines, and splendid varieties of reading, writing and sewing tables, and overstuffed stools and benches.

Group Furniture
In contrast to the austere and meaningless placement of furniture in the past, today decorators furnish from the standpoint of centers of interest, developing each center for a definite purpose and so grouping the furniture and art objects to express a given idea.

In this way, a corner by the fire-side reflecting hospitality, is generally given to the father, having in it an overstuffed chair, in front of which it is pleasing to find a stool the height of the chair, then a bridge lamp, so placed that its light falls just right on the paper or book, and a small table beside the chair for books, magazines and papers. For the mother, by a sunny window, it is nice to find the St. Francis chair, on one side of which is placed a table and on the other side a sewing cabinet.

Then centers of interest should be carefully thought out for music, reading and writing, with especial attention to that part of the decoration that gives atmospheric beauty to a center in pictures, art objects, covers, a desk set, lamps and shades, and bowls for flowers. Let individuality create in our homes "picture rooms" that radiate contentment and happiness.

LAST HALF OF BELLEHURST PARK IS NOW OPEN TO RESERVATION

Glendale People Get First Opportunity to Purchase in Close-in Subdivision. It Is Announced

Long avenues of forty-year-old olive trees are a characteristic feature of beautiful Bellehurst Park, the subdivision close to the business center of Glendale. The last half of Bellehurst Park is now open to reservation; the first half was sold in record time. It is the policy of the Walter H. Leimert Company to give the people of Glendale the first chance to buy the lots. The opportunity is now here, but, it is predicted, quick action is necessary.

EXCLUSIVE HOME CENTER GROWING

Sparr Heights to Develop Along Unique Lines Says Subdivider

"In some parts of the west," said Mr. Barnum of Barnum & Walters, subdivider and developer of Sparr Heights, "one may see what might be called the bleached bones of dead towns. These are melancholy reminders of moribund industries, and are located in what were once mining or lumbering centers. The veins of minerals were exhausted or the lumber was all cut; the industry died and the people were compelled to go elsewhere to earn a living.

"Every town and village in California that is contiguous to a center of population is prosperous. They are the overflow of the larger communities, either profitably ministering in their industries to the city's needs, or are home-centers whose bread-winners are themselves a part of the city's business life, and choose suburban domicile for the greater freedom and individuality which the smaller community affords.

Although all of our towns are prosperous, not all are equally desirable for distinctive homes. Some of them are as purely commercial as the city itself and are busy centers of agricultural or horticultural distribution. Others furnish cheap homes on small lots for the wage-earner who is tired of paying rent and cares little for aesthetic surroundings, a shelter for his family where he can pay for his home on a monthly payment basis being his only consideration. Others still house the thousands who serve the rapidly growing industries which promise in a few years to outclass those of any eastern center and make Los Angeles the largest city on the continent.

Sparr Heights Unique
"Sparr Heights is in none of these classes. It is so located that the town is the logical outgrowth of its position, which is one of unequal beauty and strategic importance to Los Angeles, Hollywood and Glendale. It is purely residential in character and all of its industrialism will be located in its ministrations and will exist only to serve the community and those centers of population tributary to it.

"Its beautiful sites for distinctive homes are attracting the business and professional element that desires moderate priced lots with a scenic outlook, congenial, permanent social affiliations for their families and opportunities for golf, hiking and riding. Here, also, they may have all of the utilities now considered desirable and indispensable to the convenient and attractive home, without extra cost for installation.

"Such purchasers are not speculators in real estate, but have the constructive urge which creates the best class of communities. They realize that at Sparr Heights forty thousand people may be accommodated with distinctive homes without crowding or the creating of city conditions.

Ready for Influx
"Business is already preparing for this population. Along the boulevard the activity in the building upon business lots is attracting much interest while the increase of the traffic on the electric road which passes through the entire length of the tract, has more than doubled in the past few months.

"As I have said, Sparr Heights is a purely residential city, and its commercial district, within ample limits, is already definitely set aside for all the future. With its school grounds already in the possession of the Glendale Board of Education, its community center building nearing completion and its admirable golf course, it is already rapidly fulfilling its promise of becoming one of the most important communities contiguous to Los Angeles."

BLAST KILLS FOUR
SHEFFNER, Fla., April 21.—Four men were instantly killed and four seriously injured here yesterday when a boiler of the Aycocks Saw Mill exploded. The bodies of the dead and injured were carried to Tampa.

Opportunity is said to knock at every man's door at least once, but it is rare indeed to have the same opportunity return for the second time. Yet this is practically the situation in Glendale today with the current announcement of the Walter H. Leimert Company that the last half of Bellehurst Park is open to advance reservation.

The fixed policy of the Walter H. Leimert Company has been to give to Glendale people the first opportunity to select the choicest locations in their local Glendale subdivision. Six weeks ago when the first unit of Bellehurst Park was announced, the effect was marveled. Over $250,000 in sales to Glendale people was recorded in the first three days of the pre-opening sale before a line of advertisements appeared in the Los Angeles papers. Then the fireworks started with full page advertisements in the metropolitan dailies. Hundreds of outside buyers swarmed into Glendale and the entire unit of eighty-eight acres was crisscrossed from the books of the company in four short weeks.

Elevated Portion
The present pre-opening announcement concerns the high elevated portion of the old Thom estate lying nestled against the Verdugo mountains to the north. It is a magnificent property with inspiring views, and fine tall trees, planted over forty years ago by Cameron E. Thom, who originally purchased the property from the old Verdugo family. No finer homesites exist in Southern California, and certainly no other property of similar quality can be purchased at anything like the pre-opening prices that are fixed by the Walter H. Leimert Company for today's sale.

There are probably very few Glendale people who have failed to visit Bellehurst Park in the last six weeks, during the great sale of the first unit just completed. Now, however, with new streets cleared through the upper or presented from the curving extension of Mountain street an entirely new idea is gained of the future possibilities of this unusual tract as a distinctive home community.

Vision of Future
"A vision of the future of Bellehurst Park," said Earl Beattie, sales manager of the Walter H. Leimert company, "can best be secured by analyzing the reasons why certain sections of every town are considered the most desirable places to live. Such sections as Orange Grove avenue in Pasadena, achieve their distinction because every house on the street is of a really high type of architecture, and no unattractive structures are allowed. Here in Bellehurst Park a new residence community of over 200 acres is forming and the absolute assurance is provided in advance that there will not be a single undesirable building put up in the entire tract.

Proof Positive
"The development of this tract under the eyes of Walter H. Leimert is proof positive of its permanent desirability as a dwelling place, and for the same reason it now forms an unusual investment opportunity. A large number of our buyers expect to build this year. This is what makes investment value."

Representatives of the Walter H. Leimert company are prepared to give complete information as to prices and terms on any lot above Stocker street. Glendale people will find that this week will be their one best opportunity to select the choice locations in the absolutely last unit of Bellehurst Park. A telephone call to Glendale 3698 will bring an immediate call from a representative of the Walter H. Leimert company with maps and prices.

Sentenced for Life; Asks Death Penalty

ELYRIA, Ohio, April 21.—"I would rather go to the electric chair than have a life sentence," asserted Carl Stesner, Lorain carpenter, upbraiding the jury that recommended mercy after finding him guilty of brutally murdering his estranged wife. When informed of the verdict Stesner told Sheriff Underhill that he didn't want "any mercy." He unsuccessfully urged that he be permitted to "go back and tell them I don't want any mercy."

HIST! SLEUTH ON GLENDALE TRAIL

Department of Justice Man Sent to Discover City Gets Eyes Opened

Glendale's fame is spreading all over the country, according to well authenticated reports reaching this city from various points, and some optimists are predicting that some of these days the fame of the "fastest growing city in America" will even begin to percolate into the intelligences, in a manner of speaking, of administration officials at Washington.

Two days ago a department of justice operator landed from Washington in Los Angeles with instructions to find out where Glendale was, and as soon as he had dug up that information, which does not appear to have been on file in the archives of the government, he was to post himself somewhere around the place where the cars stopped or the train passed through, and look for someone in whom the federal authorities were interested in connection with some postoffice matters.

The sleuth reached Los Angeles and went subtly about the task of finding Glendale. One of his friends offered to drive him out here, and when the friend parked his automobile on Brand boulevard the officer looked around and asked:

"When do we get to Glendale?" "You're in Glendale now," replied his friend, surprised at the question.

"Say, in Heaven's name, what size of place is Glendale?" asked the department of justice man, in amazement.

Growing Every Day
"Oh, somewhere around forty thousand and growing every day," was the answer.

The sleuth figured it over for a while and then went and parked his false mustaches and other disguises that he had brought along to fool the merry villagers with and hiked around to the postoffice where he found that Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson had already completed an investigation of the case and had mailed his report to Washington. He explained that he had expected to find a village of about one general store and a couple of churches and a few hens and hound dogs, and when he hit Glendale and found out what it really is, he felt ashamed of himself and the government both.

Instead of trying to cover all the trains and street cars and busses running into Glendale in search for his victim, the sleuth said he was going back to Los Angeles, to take his station at the corner of Sixth and Main streets and wait to catch his man boarding a car for Glendale.

Co-eds Plan to Study Politics of World

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 21.—Determined to tie themselves for entrance into politics on an equal footing with men, after graduation, co-eds of Syracuse University are organizing a congress, in which they debate current questions.

The new women's body will be formed by representatives elected by the various sororities, rooming houses, clubs and class organizations.

It will be patterned after the National Women's Congress, and the members will consider such vital questions as the program of the National Women's party, aims of the League of Women Voters, social and child legislation, minimum wages for women and the proposals of the Consumers' League.

Vice-Chancellor William P. Graham endorsed the project.

WOMAN MURDERED
SELBY, Del., April 21.—One of the most brutal murders ever committed in this vicinity came to light today, when the horribly mutilated body of Elisha Hudson, 55, a widower, was discovered along the Du Pont boulevard. The victim's face was beaten, the skull cracked and the right arm broken.

BETTER STORAGE URGED FOR COAL

No Satisfactory Preventive For Spontaneous Fires Is Yet Devised, Claim

By HARRY WARD
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, April 20.—The problem of stabilizing the coal industry has been studied by various commissions and government bureaus for years, and the United States Coal Commission is now struggling with it. There is now before the coal commission an extensive report prepared by investigators of the Federal Bureau of Mines and the Carnegie Institute of Technology covering the spontaneous combustion of soft coal, and these investigators have reached the conclusion that safe storage of bituminous coal is probably the only solution of the problem of stabilizing the coal industry.

So long as the peaks of demand react back to the miners, the coal industry will be a seasonal one, with a resultant unsatisfactory labor situation, Joseph D. Davis, fuel chemist, and John F. Byrne, research fellow, who conducted the investigation, stated.

Need Storage System
"If some system could be devised whereby coal could be stored economically, with little deterioration and danger of spontaneous combustion, the mines would be operated practically the whole year, say 300 working days, instead of 180 to 270 days, as in 1920, at a uniform rate of production," their report stated. "Unfortunately no such general storage system has yet been devised."

"The loss by deterioration of coal at ordinary temperatures is small when compared with that caused by rapid oxidation at elevated temperatures and the loss by spontaneous ignition. To overcome the hazards of self-heating and spontaneous combustion various means of storage have been suggested, such as storing under water or in an atmosphere of carbon dioxide, screening the coal and storing only large sizes, cooling the coal piles by means of ventilating pipes, covering the coal with sand or a layer of fine coal to prevent breathing of the heap, and so forth. Many of these methods do more harm than good, and others are prohibitive on account of their cost."

New Coal Dangerous
The report further stated that the tendency of coals to fire spontaneously differs with their age, the younger coals being the more dangerous. No case has been recorded in which anthracite coal fired spontaneously. At the other extreme is lignite, which cannot be stored, even in lumps, with safety except under water. Between these two extremes are the various grades of bituminous coal, the class which is most commonly stored. The liability of different bituminous coals to fire varies widely on account of differences in the coal. Broadly speaking, the bituminous coals of the eastern part of the United States store better than the coals of the middle west. These in turn are safer to store than the sub-bituminous coals of the intermountain region.

Chemically Analyzed
"The solution of the problem of spontaneous combustion may lie in the microscopic examination of coals and its correlation with the rate of heating," said the report. "Coal is composed of three parts—anthracylene, or bright coal, attritus, or dull coal, and mineral charcoal, and may be separated into almost pure samples of each. Tests indicate that the anthracylene is the constituent that heats first in the spontaneous heating of coal."

On account of the low conductivity of coal, cooling by artificial ventilation is almost impossible unless the air reaches every part of the pile. According to the report exclusion of air as much as possible, in order to stop oxidation, is more successful than dissipating the heat generated.

Average passenger makes the equivalent of five round trips between Baltimore and Washington annually on the railroads of this country.

ROOM FOR FRUIT TREES IN YARDS

Extra Space on Residence Lots Can Be Used to Increase Value

Owners of a small lot are often much perplexed to know what to plant. On a small lot space is limited and the householder who has a love for growing things, or a taste for fresh fruit and a desire for a place which will provoke favorable notice for usefulness, harmony and beauty, is sorely troubled by his longings to plant everything which seems so wonderful in the catalog descriptions, and the pitiful limitations of the space at his command, says Grower H. Jackson of Monrovia, a recognized authority, in an article printed in a recent issue of the Monrovia Messenger.

This is the gardening type of householder—the outdoor lover. There is the opposite type, the one who only wants to get his place planted because it looks unsightly and bare as it is, and planting becomes a necessary, although unwelcome operation.

To both classes the following suggestions are offered in the hope of being useful, and suggesting varieties which will give future pleasure and satisfaction.

City lots usually measure about fifty feet by 150 feet. Houses vary, but on such a lot a fair estimate would be thirty-two feet wide by forty feet long.

The distance back from the street also varies, but suppose we estimate thirty-two feet. This gives us a front yard thirty-two by fifty feet, a back yard seventy-eight by fifty feet, with spaces on the side of possibly six feet on one side and twelve feet on the other.

Most houses, in these days of universal automobiles will have an eight-foot driveway on the side with the wider space, also a garage at the rear of the lot, say twelve by sixteen feet.

The balance of the space at the extreme rear of the lot is often occupied by a chicken yard. With such spaces allowed for we have a front yard approximately thirty-two by thirty-eight feet, and a back yard thirty-two by sixty-two feet.

Two trees are sufficient for the front yard and one or both of these should be a large tree of an ornamental character.

Plant Avocados
If it is desired that this should combine utility and beauty the avocado is the tree above all others, for it is not only one of the most beautiful trees, but its fruit is exceedingly nutritious, often containing 20 to 30 per cent of oil, which is as valuable as the best fresh butter and 2 to 6 per

L. A. TAKES LEAD IN TAX RETURNS

Southern California First in Revenue Payments in First Quarter

All records for revenue collections were thrown into the discard by the receipts of the Southern California district for March, 1922, a gain of $1,633,241.41. Collector Goodcell said that a great deal of mail containing returns for income taxes was still unopened, and that when these receipts were registered the figures would be materially increased.

L. A. Leads Nation
The collections of the Los Angeles district for the first quarter of 1923 alone, equalled the combined total revenue collections for the entire year of 1922 of the states of Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Philippine Islands, Alaska and South Dakota.

The Los Angeles district's income tax receipts for the first quarter of 1923 were as great as the income tax receipts of Oregon for an entire year, three and one-half times as much as Delaware paid for the year 1922, and one and one-half times as much as the District of Columbia pays in a whole year.

Ten counties make up the Los Angeles district.

S. S. BERAN BUSY BUILDING HOMES

Large and Small Construction Work; Big Demand Made for Services

Contractor S. S. Beran of 205 South Brand boulevard, who made Glendale his headquarters only two years ago, now has $126,590 worth of construction work under his supervision at the present time.

Employment is given to about sixty-three men by the S. S. Beran Company. This number includes eight plasterers, nine finish carpenters, two crews of rough carpenters, two crews of cement workers, one crew of tile workers, three crews of painters, and two crews of hardwood floor layers. A portable power equipment, which consists of a small sawmill and planing mill mounted upon a motor truck, is moved from job to job. With the exception of a small quantity of finishing lumber, all building materials are purchased in Glendale.

One of the largest jobs on the books of this company is a $21,070 apartment house for the northwest corner of Harvard street and Glendale avenue, which is to be completed in about ten days for Samuel Ganger. The property has a frontage of sixty-seven feet on Harvard street, and a depth of 110 feet, only a small portion of which is on Glendale avenue. The building will cover almost the entire lot. Its interior will be divided into sixteen single apartments and four double apartments. The construction will be stucco over frame. It will be completed in less than ninety days.

Plan Flat Building
Another job to be started before the first of next month is a $15,550 four-flat building to be erected at 535 North Glendale avenue for J. J. Gribbon. This will be two-stories in height and of stucco over frame.

Ground was broken this week at 210 West Palmer avenue for a $29,000 sixteen unit bungalow court, consisting of six duplexes and four apartments, which he will own himself. Lumber will be the principal material.

Contract was signed this week with D. F. Richardson for the construction at 516 West Harvard street of a $38,000 five-room frame residence with garage to match. The appearance of this bungalow will be distinguished by an outside fireplace.

Mrs. Sophie McKay of Los Angeles has ordered a five-room special stucco bungalow for 1722 Green street, which is now under construction.

An eight-room $4000 duplex is now being finished at 825 North Pacific avenue for Frederick Farum of 415 South Lincoln street. Finishing lumber is being fitted and the bungalow will be ready for occupancy before May 15.

An eight-room $4700 frame duplex is now being completed at 812 North Pacific avenue for O. M. Newby of 803 North Pacific avenue. This will be finished about the middle of next month.

Contract was signed yesterday with Joseph Street of 402 Burchett street for the construction on the next lot, 404 Burchett street, of a five-room special bungalow.

John McKay is now having a special five-room stucco bungalow built at 323 El Bonita avenue. This will be accompanied by a garage. Mr. McKay is now living on the rear of this property.

A four-room $1900 bungalow at 129 South Cedar street, which is the property of A. T. Ashbury will be ready for inspection about April 27.

Another special five-room stucco bungalow is under construction at 1233 South Boynton street for Earl E. Hitchcock, who now lives at 1234 South Boynton street. He will be able to move into it about May 15.

Work In Demand
H. D. Lockwood of 727 North Louise street, owner of a special six-room bungalow at 729 North Louise street, which is now under construction.

Two special five-room bungalows are now being built at 3432 and 3434 Atwater avenue for Mrs. Lilly C. Richardson and Miss Edna Stuart of 1856 South Brand boulevard.

Frank C. Butterfield has now moved out of a $4800 six-room frame bungalow at 429 Arden avenue, which was recently turned over to him.

A six-room $8500 model stucco bungalow with tile roof was recently completed at 619 North Orange street for J. G. Vandenberg of 615 North Orange street. The living and dining rooms are finished in southern gum.

The balance of the interior is finished in egg-shell enamel over Oregon pine. A unique feature is the fact that stepping stones instead of cement steps lead to the front porch.

Contractor S. S. Beran now has twenty-seven jobs under construction. For some time he has averaged one contract a day.

CHARGE BRIBE PLOT

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 21.—A startling development in the black hand murder trials in progress here came when Thomas C. Restifo, a wealthy automobile dealer of Baltimore, was arrested in open court charged with attempting to bribe the jury hearing the case of Patsy Corbi, also of Baltimore, as an accessory before the fact in the murder of Frank Naples, a local barber, a year ago. Three men already have received verdicts from juries and Corbi is the fourth man to be tried.

HOUSE PLANS FOR HOME PLANNERS

Well Planned Home For Small Family

Stone Is Ideal, If Available; But Stucco, Brick or Wood Will Suit This Plan

John Ruskin in his "Lamp of Truth" declares that the true colors of architecture are those of natural stone. He says he does not remember to have seen any building of stone where it was "roughly or nakedly used" that the building did not show a marked character. The very honesty of the use of materials gives the home a dignified and substantial feeling. This house of stone seems full of life and its colors are like a piece of soft time-tried tapestry.

If stone must be imported to a building site it becomes an expensive building material. If, however, it is found in the locality where the house is to be constructed, it is not so expensive, and forms one of the most beautiful as well as dignified and enduring materials possible to use in domestic architecture.

The stone house shown here is unpretentious, friendly and homelike. Americans want comfort in their homes and for this reason the floor plan was considered first, each room arranged in relation to its neighbor in a way that would give greatest comfort to the household. From this carefully considered floor plan, the silhouette of the house was evolved. Beauty and necessity thus go hand in hand. In this case a beautiful exterior has been the natural growth of a practical floor plan.

The entrance is through a porch intended to serve as a sitting room in the summer days, if the house is built in the country or suburbs and therefore set far enough back from the street to insure privacy.

There is a large living room with a fireplace on one side of the hall and dining room and kitchen on the other. The stairway rises from the hall and is met on the landing by a small one leading up from the kitchen. This is done to conserve space, cost of building, and to save a maid's having to pass through the main part of the house in going to and from her own room.

The kitchen is arranged for efficient work. Each article has been placed so that in preparing the meal no unnecessary steps need be taken and no criss-cross passing to and fro in order to do a simple piece of work. Dish closets are near the sink, the range on the inner wall, as kitchen experts say is the most scientific way, and the icebox is near the service porch. At the back of the hall is a small entrance hall lavatory, and nearby a coat closet. The entrance to the garden is through this hall out to a terrace which, though shown as a small tiled place, could be extended to the end of the living room if desired.

The terrace and floor of the front porch should be made of flag stones to be in perfect keeping with the house. The walk to the front gate should also be of flag stones set far enough apart to allow grass to grow in between. This makes a walk that does not cut the lawn too severely, but draws the coloring and quality of the house out into the garden, as is consistent with harmonious architecture.

Pathways leading to the garden could be of stepping stones arranged as the walk to the front gate.

For so small a house as this the balance of the interior is ideal. The maid's room is entirely shut away from the other bedrooms, thus giving her an entire little suite to herself, for there is a bath connected with her room. She approaches her room from the stairs leading out of the hallway near the dining room. The owner's room is large and has two large closets, as has the room across the hall from this. Cross ventilation is to be had in every bedroom and such conveniences as the linen closet and storage space have not been forgotten. The upstairs hall is large and roomy, as is the one downstairs, thus giving an added idea of spaciousness rather than the cramped feeling a small hall always creates.

This house follows the conventional lines of early New England architecture and is thoroughly suited to our present-day requirements as far as the exterior is concerned. Within there is a distinct advancement as far as providing comfort is concerned. It could be of split stone or of field stone. Of course the same floor plan could be carried out in brick, stucco or wood, if desired. It is forty-nine feet wide by forty-two feet eight inches deep; consequently, unless placed lengthwise on the lot or built on a corner, a lot of at least sixty feet would be needed. This would be an excellent plan for a corner lot, as every side of the design is equally lovely.

If this house were to be frame it would be quite charming painted white with green shutters, with walks and terrace of red brick, and old-fashioned borders of box or hardy perennials, such as iris, phlox, lupin, larkspur, foxglove and other favorites.

Since the prices of material and labor vary so materially in different localities, we do not attempt to give an estimate as to costs, but suggest that you consult your local builder who can give you detailed information as to the cost of your exact needs to be installed in this design. For information as to the procuring of the building plans of this design No. 45, send a stamped and self-addressed envelope to the House Plan Editor, in care of this paper.

VALE VIEW TRACT OFFERS GOOD BUY

J. M. Boland, Owner, Gives Choice of Seventeen Lots in Foothill Location

One block north of Kenneth road, seventeen magnificent foothill lots, 50 by 164 feet, will be sold Saturday and Sunday at $1,190 and up, announces J. M. Boland, 213 West Broadway, owner of the property, which is known as the Tenth Street Vale View tract, three blocks west of Grand View avenue, on Tenth street.

"These seventeen lots are all that are left in this tract," Mr. Boland states, "and anyone who knows values at all can see at a glance that they are way underpriced. We have marked them so to sell quickly, and the terms are easy and restrictions adequate."

"The proposed bus line will render service to this tract and the Grand View school is but three blocks distant. The altitude not only gives a superb view of the entire countryside, but makes the air cool and healthful."

Nature at Door
"Truly a delightful place to live, is the Tenth Street Vale View tract. A home there brings nature right to your very door and gives your children an opportunity to grow up in the open, while you are within five minutes of the heart of the city. Come out and see for yourselves."

Salesmen will be on the tract on Saturday and Sunday, Mr. Boland announces, and advises people to come prepared to buy if they do not want to lose out on these seventeen remaining lots.

Washington Inventor Works 24 Hrs. Daily

SPOKANE, Wash., April 21.—Jacob A. Aley, of Spokane, claims to be the first man who works twenty-four hours a day. He says he's done it for about fifteen years and suffered no ill effects. Daytime Aley works on his regular job; night time he puts his brain to work to produce inventions while he sleeps.

"I never consciously invent details of my inventions during waking hours," he says. "If I have a problem I state it, consciously, to my brain. During the sleep time at night my brain works on the thing and presents me with the result in the morning."

Aley has a fool-proof voting machine, a mechanical problem producer for arithmetic classes, a toy cannon, several mechanical fish baits, a vending machine and several other inventions to his credit. Each of them was produced by his brain during periods of sleep, he declares.

Tar Finds Big Pearl In Hawaiian Harbor

HONOLULU, April 21.—Pearl Harbor is no misnomer, as Frank Gomes, a fisherman, recently, when he uncovered a glistening, pinkish-white, perfectly formed pearl, the size of a pea. Local jewelers say it is valuable and should bring well into the hundreds of dollars.

Mine Official Loses Life in Snowslide

GUNNISON, Colo., April 21.—Frank J. Kerr, mine superintendent, is dead at Crested Butte today as the result of being crushed by a heavy snowslide near that mining town. The slide caused considerable property damage, according to word received here.

STATE SENATORS O. K. REALTY LAW

Part of Legislative Program Of State Association Now in House

Providing for land certification in California, and carrying a qualification or intelligence test for realty brokers, the legislative amendments to the California real estate license law were passed by the state senate by a vote of 33 to 4. Two senators who were unavoidably absent would have supported the measure had they been present. The measure now goes to the judiciary committee of the state assembly, according to the California Real Estate association news department.

The legislative program of the real estate dealers was drafted by the legislative committee of the California Real Estate association, according to President Frazier O. Reed. The amendments were considered by the real estate boards and members of the association for over a year past. As proposed to the legislature, they are based upon the careful thought and years of practical experience of the real estate agents.

"We have endeavored to strengthen our present license law strictly in the interest of the buying and selling public of the state," State Legislative Chairman William H. Akin, who drafted the amendments, declared. "Land certification is urged, fraudulent statements regarding real property are prohibited, realty brokers are to be asked to respond to the most ordinary test for qualification, and a bond of $2000 is to be required. We have proposed these amendments after thorough discussion, and with the approval of our realty boards throughout the state. We believe that public sentiment will support these amendments, and press comments far and wide reflect the viewpoint of the moulders of public opinion."

Announcing ~ The Opening of FLINTRIDGE Highlands

A STUPENDOUS engineering program is today opening up the famed hills and canyons of Flintridge Highlands, for home building.

The steam shovel and the boulevard builders are girdling the rugged slopes and spanning the cool glens that separate Flintridge from Glendale.

In the wake of this development the choicest section of the beautiful Flintridge parkland is being made available to discriminating homebuilders.

Flintridge Highlands will today be a mecca for the scores of people who have been awaiting this announcement. The demand for commanding homesites insures the rapid development of Flintridge Highlands—rigid restrictions insure its high character.

Scenic sites on knolls or hillsides—swept by cool canyon breezes—shaded by magnificent oaks—fronting on easily-ascended boulevards and bridge paths—served by gas, water and electricity—commanding magnificent views of mountains, valley, distant cities and the ocean.

Reservations are already being made by those who realize that opening prices and terms are always the most favorable.

U. S. USES RADIO FOR CROP NEWS

Agriculture Department Extends Valuable Points Through Broadcasting

By J. L. MEDDOFF
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, April 21.—
The organization and development by the Department of Agriculture of a comprehensive radio programme covering the entire country provides a practical aspect of harnessing radio for service and utility.

Furnishing market reports, weather information and general agricultural news, this service, undertaken with the approval of the Interdepartmental Radio Committee, in charge of all Government radio broadcasting, is rendering an efficient service of incalculable value to the farmers of America.

Federal crop and market reports were first prepared and broadcast by radio-telegraph, in co-operation with the Radio Laboratory of the Commerce Department's Bureau of Standards. The reports were sent out by this laboratory for four months, covering a radius of approximately 100 miles.

Whole U. S. Covered
They were successful, however, and today, less than two years since their inauguration, the entire area of the United States east of the Rocky Mountains and practically all of the Pacific Coast area from Washington to California is covered with daily broadcasts of these reports by high-powered radio telegraph stations.

With the further development of radio and its extension to radio-telephony, the crop and market reports were also released to selected broadcasting stations of this type. At the present time the radio crop and market news service of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics is handled by four high-powered radio-telegraph stations of the Navy Department, five strong radio-telegraph stations of the Post Office Department and 78 radio-telephone stations belonging to colleges, State agricultural departments, electrical companies, newspapers, stockyards and other concerns interested.

Radio Storm Warnings
The Weather Bureau has had an effective distribution of its information by telegraph for several years, but it was only in the last year that radio has been utilized in sending warnings over land, sea and through air. The end of the last fiscal year found 98 stations in 35 States broadcasting daily weather forecasts and warnings by radio-telephone.
These stations also disseminate weekly reports on the effect of weather on crops and highways and other information issued by the Weather Bureau.

In co-operation with the Office of Communications of the Navy Department, the Weather Bureau has made wide extensions in the radio bulletin service for the special benefit of marine and aviation interests. Each day major bulletins are sent out covering the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts and the Great Lakes region.

For the aid of aviators special upper-air forecasts are broadcast from all naval radio stations in 14 zones, except two. Army, Navy and Post Office officials and flying fields are supplied with daily telegraphic forecasts and specially requested reports.

World System Planned Attention is now being focused upon establishment of an international weather information and crop reporting service. A daily radiogram is sent to the French Meteorological Service, containing observations taken at about 40 stations in the United States, and a similar message soon will be sent to the Philippines and Japan. The reports sent to France are broadcast from the Eiffel Tower over all Europe. In exchange the Weather Bureau receives radio reports from European countries.

Weather observations will be taken twice daily by members of the Amundsen Polar Expedition and communicated by radio to the Signal Corps at Nome, Alaska, whence they will be transmitted to the Weather Bureau here. Crop reports are exchanged with the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome and with the Egyptian Government.

Despite its extensive use of radio the Department of Agriculture does not operate any wireless equipment, carrying on its radio distribution work through stations operated by other Government departments, by corporations and by private individuals.

STEAL CIGAR BOXES
SEATTLE, April 21.—Five young bandits equipped with a speedy automobile raided the premises of a local cigar company and loaded forty-four boxes, presumably containing expensive cigars, into their machine. They disappeared amid a hail of bullets from police automatics. A check of the stock showed that the bandits had stolen dummy cigar boxes used for advertising purposes.

ACTRESS INJURED
NEW YORK, April 21.—Mrs.
Zoe Garland, pretty twenty-year-old vaudeville actress, who came from Iowa, was found unconscious in front of a dance studio. She was taken to the Knickerbocker hospital, where she is in a critical condition, suffering from concussion of the brain. Mystery surrounds her injury.

Because of the lateness of the season in which they bloom, some species of aster in England are called the Christmas daisy.

Mushrooms depend on other plants to manufacture their organic matter.

NEW YORK FIRST IN ZONED CITIES

Regulations Provide Kind of Structures Which May Be Erected

Reports received from many cities throughout the country, as well as the United States department of commerce, shows that New York state ranks first in the percentage of population living in zoned municipalities.

Eighty-one per cent of the urban population of New York state is now residing in communities which have zoning ordinances in effect.

In the number of communities which are zoned New Jersey leads with 31, New York is second with 17, California third with 14, Illinois fourth with 10, Ohio fifth with 9, and Massachusetts and Wisconsin following with 6 each. More than 15,000,000 people live in zoned cities, towns and villages, according to information received by the division of building and housing of the department of commerce.

Computations show that the homes of 27 per cent of the total population of the country are located in zoned municipalities, and it follows that most of these homes are protected from intrusion of garages, stores, warehouses or manufacturing plants. Zoning regulations provide, by a neighborly kind of agreement, that a city or town shall be divided into districts in which the uses for which structures may be built, their maximum height and the area of the lot which they may cover are established.

Provides for Growth
In line with the zoning plan certain districts are set aside for residences, for apartment houses, for office buildings and for manufacturing.

Ample provision is made for normal growth of business and industrial districts, but the builder of a garage or factory is not allowed to erect it within a residential neighborhood regardless of the annoyance and money losses inflicted on surrounding home owners.

The department's investigation shows that in 1922 the spread of zoning was especially rapid in smaller places.

Fourteen towns with 5,000 to 10,000 inhabitants were zoned during the year, bringing the total zoned towns in this class to sixteen. The percentage of large cities which have already zoned remains much greater, of course, and of the fifth largest cities in the country twenty-two have zoning ordinances in effect.

In the entire country 109 cities, towns and villages were zoned on January 1, 1923, as compared with fifty-five just one year before.

New York, the largest city in the country, has been zoned since 1916, and, in contrast, the smallest zoned community had only 131 inhabitants, according to the 1920 census.

Eighty-one per cent of the urban population of New York state lives in zoned municipalities.

NEW RECORD SET IN TAX RETURNS

Internal Revenue Collector Finishes Checking Southern California Reports

Checking of the number of income tax returns filed in the Southern California district was completed yesterday, and Collector Rex Goodcell announced that 227,193 returns of all kinds had been filed, compared with 195,077 in 1922, a gain of 32,116. In 1918 only 206,411 returns were made in the entire state of California. The Los Angeles gain sets a new record.

The number of taxable returns of all classes filed was 128,145, as against 106,926 in 1922, a gain of 21,219. There were 124,645 personal taxable returns made, of which 97,514 were on incomes less than $5,000 and 27,031 for incomes more than $5,000, compared with 87,587 less than $5,000 incomes and 17,237 more than $5,000 incomes in 1922. This shows a gain of 19,719 in personal returns filed on which tax was paid.

Collector Goodcell pointed out that an unusual feature of the taxable returns filed was that seventy-five per cent of the taxpayers filing returns on incomes of less than $5,000 and fifty per cent of the more than $5,000 class paid their taxes in full.

In Tax-Free Class
In the non-taxable class there were 99,948 returns filed, of which 82,021 were for less than $5,000 incomes, 350 more than $5,000 incomes and 16,677 corporation and partnership returns. In 1922 the total of non-taxable returns filed was 88,151, of which 72 were for incomes less than $5,000 and 187 on incomes more than $5,000. In 1923 there were filed 10,897 more non-taxable returns than in 1922.

An outstanding feature of Collector Goodcell's report was the fact that under the relief afforded by the new Revenue Act, 82,371 taxpayers who filed returns on small incomes were not required to pay tax, the increased exemptions allowed placing them in the tax-free class. The 124,645 taxpayers who filed taxable returns were saved from $20 to $44 each, due to the increased exemptions.

Growth of the Los Angeles district as a producer of income tax revenue was reflected by figures given out by Collector Goodcell which showed that his office was charged up by the department with $24,370,723.53 for income taxes listed in March alone, to which the Washington bureau added $2,112,834.96 in old and additional taxes, a total of $26,483,607.49, as compared with $13,461,241.69 for March, 1922.

One judges by the Congressional Record that the only tax some congressmen do not approve is syntax.

SO. DAKOTA'S CHAMPION MILKMAIDS! YEA, BOY!

They Win First Honors At Livestock And Grain Show At Brookings

Miss Hazel Chrisman & Miss Emma Lundin.
Miss Emma Lundin, of Springfield, South Dakota, won first honors as a milkmaid, at the Little International Livestock and Grain Show, at the State College at Brookings, South Dakota. She drew 22.8 pounds of milk in ten minutes. Miss Hazel Chrisman was second, with 16.7 pounds of milk in the same time.

Emotion Kills Widow Of French War Hero

CHAROLLES, France, April 21.—Madame Scheffer, widow of a French war hero, died here from emotion when her husband's body was returned by the government. Madame Scheffer had been sickly ever since the death of her husband in 1917. She recently asked the government to return his body from where he fell in Verdun.

Madame Scheffer was at the station to claim the body, but when she saw the coffin, crumpled in a heap upon the platform. Husband and wife will be buried together.

Slang Liquor Names Cause Reversal Plea

NELSONVILLE, Ohio, April 21.—Claiming the word "whiskey" was never used during the trial and conviction of Frank Harrington, of Lathrop, on the charge of bootlegging, counsel for Harrington has asked the state supreme court to reverse the judgment of the lower courts.

Attorneys for Harrington contend that the words "white mule," "corn liquor" and "moonshine" mean nothing in the eyes of the law. They asserted that these are the only incriminating words used against their client by the prosecution.

The HOME GARDEN

What is Home without a Garden?

New Types of Poppies

Remarkable strides have been made in the last few seasons in developing that very handsome and easily grown annual, the poppy, both in the Shirley and opium types. As poppy seed may be sown in mid-winter with excellent prospects of a fine, early crop of blooms there need be no delay in getting the poppy bed started.

In the favorite Shirley type, there are new selections of delicate shades in salmon and pink which will prove revelations. A new wild rose pink type will add to the glory of the poppy bed this year. It comes into bloom very early from fall or winter-sown seeds and a bed will be ablaze in June from seed scattered now.

As this type of poppy does not transplant, the seed should be sown where the plants are to be grown. The seed should be mixed with twice or more of its bulk of fine sand to scatter it. After germination the plants should be thinned to a foot apart. The size of the bloom will be greatly increased, and each bush will produce a much greater crop of flowers if given room to develop. The fading flowers should be picked and no seed pods allowed to form, as the development of seed pods means the end of bloom.

Repair Work on Lawns

Lawn seeding to renovate bare spots damaged by winter freezing and to thicken up the turf as well as the seeding of new lawns should not be delayed. An idea of the amount of seed necessary is given by the following figures, which refer to reclaimed seed of the best quality.

For new lawns, one pound of seed should be used for each 300 square feet, for one quarter of an acre 25 pounds. To build up old lawns, one-half or less will be sufficient, depending upon the condition of the sod.

On established lawns at this time either commercial fertilizer, bone meal, shredded cow manure or pulverized sheep manure dressings should now be given in order that the spring rains may carry the extra supply of plant food down to the roots. The concentrated fertilizers sold by most dealers should be sprinkled upon the lawn as soon as the frost is out of the ground. About 25 pounds to a space of 1000 square feet, 50 to 20, is a sufficient amount and it will be a good plan to mix it with an equal amount of pulverized dry soil to render distribution easier and prevent any danger of burning. In new lawns double this amount will be needed.

If nitrate of soda is used, scatter it thinly after it has been pondered fine so that there are no large lumps remaining. This is the quickest acting lawn fertilizer in early spring but, as it is only a temporary spur, other fertilizers should be used later on.

A quick catch for offending bare spots in a lawn is white clover. Many like a liberal supply of white clover in their greenward while others object to it. If green moss shows in spots on the lawn it is a sign that the soil is sour. The lawn should be given a dusting of lime to remedy this condition and sweeten the soil. Hydrated lime or finely pulverized limestone may be used. A large handful to a square yard is usually enough.

HUGE OUTPUT IN L. A. OIL REGION

February Production Leaps Half Million Barrels Over January

The Los Angeles district, a radius of forty miles, produced 11,669,310 barrels of oil, or 71 per cent of the state's total production of 16,426,759 barrels, for the shortest month of the year, figures released today by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce show. The increase of this field over the thirty-day period of January was 548,624 barrels.

Production of all fields outside of Los Angeles district totaled 4,850,449 barrels in February, with a daily average of 171,695 barrels. The daily average of the Los Angeles district reached 414,974 barrels, indicating the 1923 record for this district will total more than 150,000,000 barrels more than the 1922 production of the state.

The daily average for Los Angeles and Orange counties exceeded January's to 56,256 barrels. Santa Fe Springs was the outstanding production center, moving upward from a 2,825,197 barrel production in January to 3,081,688 barrels in February. Huntington - Newport stepped along to an increase of 500,000 barrels in February, the total of 3,001,732 barrels falling slightly behind that of Santa Fe Springs.

Long Beach dropped to 3,678,400 barrels, but averaged nearly 131,000 barrels daily. Had the month been lengthened three days at this rate, the total would have been beyond 40,000,000 barrels, a record. The month ended with 552 wells being drilled and 2158 producing.

ADDRESSES REALTORS

At the joint meeting of the realty boards of San Jose, Gilroy, Palo Alto, Monterey, Pacific Grove, Salinas, held under the auspices of the San Jose Realty board, at the Hotel Vendome, a talk on national realty legislation, notably the amendment to prohibit tax exempt securities, was made by the Hon. ## "Hello, Smith"

(Brooks E. Miller speaking)

"Have you bought your Bemco Yet?"

(Smith)—"What's Bemco?"

(Miller)—"Bemco is a coined word taken from my initials, B. E. M., with company added; the full name of the company is

Bemco Oil Syndicate No. 1

and the trustees are as follows: A. P. Hoffman, Director Security Trust & Savings Bank, Long Beach; M. S. Capell, Retired Capitalist, Los Angeles; H. Heichert, Secretary, Los Angeles; Oliver O. Clark, Attorney, Glendale; Brooks E. Miller, Oil Well Financier, Glendale."

(Smith)—"What is Bemco doing?"

(Miller)—"Bemco No. 1 is an oil well being drilled on Signal Hill, within 400 feet of three producing oil wells; 15 1/2-inch casing was set last Tuesday at 655 feet and our drill is working now at 750 feet, making 'hole' rapidly."

(Smith)—"What is the capitalization of Bemco?"

(Miller)—"Twelve hundred and fifty units of $100 each."

(Smith)—"That sounds pretty low."

(Miller)—"It is low, in fact it is the lowest I know of and is a real chance for the investor to make big money."

(Miller)—"Every 30 days, by one of the leading banks of Long Beach."

(Smith)—"That's a pretty good board of trustees you have."

(Miller)—"Do you know any of them?"

(Smith)—"Yes, two."

(Miller)—"Call them up and ask them about this proposition."

(Smith)—"No, I am satisfied. I am sure you wouldn't print their names unless they were really trustees."

(Smith)—"Put me down for 10."

(Miller)—"Thanks; come in and see me or my representative."

(Smith)—"I sure will."
